TRIAL ON FRAUD IS ORDERED

J. H. Forrest to Face Higher Court, Magistrate George Jay Rules

Irregularities in Workings of Syndicate Here Are Charged

John Hadow Forrest, manager of the Victoria Ejector Syndicate, and of the Forrest Patents Ltd. of Vancouver, was committed for trial by Magistrate George Jay in City Police Court this morning on a charge of obtaining $100 by false pretences from John W. Goss in connection with the promotion of the syndicate.

Allegations that the accused had secured a number of "victims" in Victoria were made at the preliminary hearing. City Prosecutor C. H. Harrison declared that from the sworn evidence of prosecution witnesses it appeared that the whole matter was a gross fraud on the public.

Forrest was alleged to have claimed to be the holder of patent rights for U.S. and Canada on an ejector pump which he said he had invented. On the strength of this statement, it was claimed he had obtained sums of money to form a syndicate with the idea of later forming a company to promote the manufacture of the article.

ADMISSION MADE
Henry C. Hall, K.C., defence counsel, admitted to the court that on the date of the alleged offence, March 20, 1929, the accused was not in possession of the patent rights. Mr. Harrison had intimated it would be necessary to send commissions to Washington and Ottawa to secure this evidence but Mr. Hall's admission eliminated this necessity.

Revenue of Canada Seen At Higher Level

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—The three-quarter mark in the present fiscal year finds Canada with increased revenues, increased expenditures and a substantial drop in the net debt of the Dominion.

A financial statement issued to-day through the Department of Finance shows total ordinary revenue of the Dominion amounting to $31,247,225 for the nine months of the present fiscal year which passed December 31 last. For the corresponding nine-month period of the preceding fiscal year ordinary revenue totaled $34,528,544. The increase therefore amounted to $6,004,781.

The net debt of the Dominion on December 31 amounted to $2,159,214,730. On December 31, 1929, the total net debt was $2,218,003,434. There was consequently a decrease amounting to $58,788,704 on the basis of the figures presented.

Bank Head Looks To 1930 With Optimism

Montreal, Jan. 9.—"In spite of the losses incurred by the country during the past year, there is no reason to look forward to more than a moderate recession in business during 1930," said Sir Herbert Hall, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, in his address to the shareholders at the sixtieth annual meeting of the bank here to-day.

"Fortunately, speculative excesses were confined to securities. Commodity prices have remained stable, inventories are low, employment and wages are being maintained at a relatively high level. The improvement in industrial efficiency has continued and the financial position of industry is excellent, both because of large liquid reserves and satisfactory profits during last year. Such conditions warrant optimism," the president said.

CHINA SOON MAY CHANGE COINS

Nanking, Jan. 9.—The Government held an emergency meeting to-day to consider measures dealing with the chaotic situation created by the slump in silver. According to the official newspaper, the Government is considering abolition of the tael, central China monetary unit in favor of dollar standards, with eventual adoption of the gold basis.

FOUR KILLED IN TRAIN COLLISION

Quillem, Chile, Jan. 9.—Four persons were killed and six seriously injured in a train collision here to-day.

CHILLY AT VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—Vancouver is to have cold weather for an indefinite time, the weather man announced to-day. The thermometer took another short dip to 16.3 degrees at 7:30 this morning.

Police Rescue Trapper Lost In Pitt Lake District

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—Marcus Cox, Vancouver trapper, who was missing in the forested country north of Pitt Lake, has been found, according to a report received by provincial police here.

Although no details have been received, it is indicated Cox is alive and well.

Constable J. W. Hooker of Pitt Meadows and Constable Urquhart of Redoubt, left on a search for the missing man Tuesday after his wife here had communicated with the police.

ANXIETY FELT
Cox was due to return to Vancouver for the Christmas and New Year holidays, but no word had been received from him at his trap lines seventy-five miles northeast of Vancouver for weeks and some anxiety was felt.

Constable Hooker has communicated with the provincial police office here, stating the party is coming out immediately, and is expected to reach New Westminster to-day.

SEAPLANE BASE DEBATE REOPENS

Another Conference Scheduled at City Hall To-morrow Afternoon

Location of the seaplane base for Victoria, which has formed the subject of several discussions at meetings of the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce, will be opened again at a conference to be held to-morrow afternoon at the City Hall at 3:30 o'clock.

Mayor Anscomb, members of the City Council, representatives of the port development committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and others interested, will attend. Col. A. R. Wilby will represent the Federal Department of Marine and Fisheries.

When the subject was discussed on previous occasions exception to the present inner harbor location was taken on the grounds that the planes speeding on the water to their base or on their outward journey constituted a menace to a crowded harbor. Feasibility was voiced that at some time a speeding plane would crash into a boat and fatalities would result. On the other hand, it was contended that the pilots had a sufficient range of vision, and the machines could be turned in small enough radius to avert crashing with any obstacle. Squadron Commander McLeod, whose opinion was sought, gave his approval of the present base. Other port development matters will be discussed at the meeting.

SWEDEN HAS MILD WINTER

Stockholm, Jan. 9.—The mildest weather in 140 years was recorded in Sweden for the month of December, according to meteorological reports to-day. All ports on the Baltic Sea are ice free and absence of snow in Stockholm has made it necessary to stage the skiing contests of the forthcoming Northern Games in Osterund, in the northerly province of Jemoland.

CONTROL IS FAVORED BY BERRY MEN

Leading Growers of Province Start Campaign For Central Marketing Method

Many Saanich Growers Actively Work For Plan Earlier Condemned

The Small Fruits Committee of Direction, which has been imperative since 1928, may be revived and restored to domination of berry marketing during 1930. Action to attain a central marketing control is being taken by a group of fifteen leading berry growers of all parts of the Province.

Influential Vancouver Island growers are leading the movement, their actions individuals being a direct reversal of the attitude taken by the co-operative associations in 1928, when the Small Fruits Committee functioned on the mainland. At that time the island associations stood out and the most satisfactory method would be to unify marketing of all British berries.

Last Saturday a meeting of leading growers took place and studied plans to better marketing methods for the coming season. It was decided that the most satisfactory method would be to unify marketing of all British berries.

GANDHI FOR CONFERENCE NOW FOR INDIA

Says Final Test Must Come; Suggests British-India Sessions

Armadada Bay, India, Jan. 9 (Canadian Press Cable Via Reuters).—"The time must come when there may be a fight to the finish, with our backs to the wall," declares Mahatma Gandhi, noted Indian Nationalist leader, writing in the newspaper Young India.

Gandhi says he believes if the British Government should invite the Indian Nationalist Congress to discuss and frame a scheme for independence, the congress would respond gladly.

"There must be a conference at some stage or other," Gandhi writes. "Whether such time be far or near depends upon how we utilize or waste the year of grace."

NO NEW CAMPAIGN
The Nationalist leader says he does not see the atmosphere to-day for a campaign of civil disobedience.

"If the British Government invites the Nationalist Congress to a conference to discuss and frame, not any scheme, but a scheme definitely for an independent government, and if it fulfills other conditions suitable to such a conference," he says, "I take it the leaders of the Congress would respond gladly indeed to the offer of such a conference."

JAIL IS TO FREE 105 SOON

Speculation as to How Book-hobors Will Act When They Leave Oakalla

Ordinary Regulations Do Not Provide For Special Train

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—The approaching release about the middle of February of 105 book-hobors men and women from the Oakalla Jail after serving sentences of six months each for staging a nude parade near Nelson is causing considerable speculation as to what will be done with them.

It is presumed Government authorities will decide upon some scheme for handling them.

Ordinary prisoners are released through the prison gates and left to start out for themselves. Should this be done with the 105 book-hobors, with their penchant for parades, nude and otherwise, Vancouver might witness some startling scenes.

The prisoners were brought here aboard a special train from Nelson, but ordinary regulations do not provide for their return in that manner. They would probably also be without funds.

EARTH SHOCKS IN CALIFORNIA

Santa Cruz, Calif., Jan. 9.—Two earthquake shocks of varying intensity were felt here near last midnight. The first and slightest tremor occurred at 11:30 p.m. The second shock was felt fifteen minutes later. No damage was reported.

TAX SALE LAND PLANS STUDIED BY B.C. CABINET

Tolmie Says Committee Is Working on Problems of Putting Them on Rolls

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—Making tax sale lands ready available for settlement is one problem which has taken up much of the time of the Cabinet during the past few weeks, and definite action in this matter may be expected in the near future, according to a statement to-day by Premier S. F. Tolmie, who is in Vancouver on a business visit.

Land, tax sales and railway grants, now controlled by the Federal Government, had been given much consideration by the Cabinet on the eve of the departure of a delegation to Ottawa to negotiate the return of the latter territory to the Province, the Premier stated.

BACK ON ROLLS
"A strong committee of the Cabinet has been working overtime on British Columbia's tax sale land problem—the problem of getting settlers on land which has reverted to the Government for taxes, thus putting it back on the tax rolls," said Premier Tolmie.

WATER SUPPLIES
"We must find a way of making these lands more readily available for settlers. In some places, such as Creston and Vanderhoof, we find the water supply is a deciding factor in keeping people on the land. The Government has already tackled this problem at Creston with gratifying results."

"At Vanderhoof there is much good land, but water is hard to find. It may be necessary for the Government to put on its own well-drilling crew in order to supply water on lands where we want settlers. They could pay the cost of drilling wells over a period."

NEAR RAILWAYS
"Our chief aim is to get settlement near present markets and transportation facilities. Of course, if settlers want to go far back, we cannot stop them. But we are trying to draw them near existing centres."

STIMSON SAYS THE NAVAL PARLEY WILL BE SUCCESS

Hoboken, N.J., Jan. 9.—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, head of the United States delegation to the London Naval Arms Limitation Conference, said to-day on boarding the liner George Washington for the trip to England that the delegation was starting out "with high hopes of being able to accomplish the successful result of our mission."

Los Angeles, Jan. 9.—A coroner's jury, with which three experienced aviators, has condemned the flight of two motor picture camera planes which collided 2,800 feet above the Pacific Ocean two miles off Point San Vicente last Thursday with the loss of ten lives, as "too hazardous."

The jury found: "That the ten men died in a collision caused by two aeroplanes flying continuously in too close formation, one of the planes turning within a too short radius and the possibility of sun glare."

"We believe flying of such nature is too hazardous, that it is in no way encourages commercial aviation and in too many instances seems unnecessary."

JURY CONDEMNS FLYING WHICH LED TO DEATHS

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—An average of twenty automobiles a day is stolen in Vancouver, police report. Wednesday the total of unrecovered stolen autos was twenty-nine.

Many of the machines removed without the knowledge of the owners are "borrowed" for joy rides and are recovered by police in different parts of the city within a few hours.

"I think one reason so many thefts are reported to us," Inspector Harold Mortimer of the traffic squad said to-day, "is that it is difficult to secure a conviction for a theft unless the person taking the car makes some attempt to sell it."

"We have been forced to content ourselves with laying charges of operating without the knowledge or consent of the owner against most of the persons we find driving cars which are not theirs, because of the practical difficulty of proving theft."

"If the more serious charge could be made to stick we might be able to reduce the number of stolen cars reported."

Imperial Oil Buy Site On Causeway; To Build

Pay $35,000 For 100 Feet on Humboldt Street, Backing Down to Water

Super Station For Motor Cars and Launches to Be Built; Distinctive Design

Victoria's first combined automobile and motor boat super-service station was announced to-day by the Imperial Oil company for erection on the north side of the harbor, adjoining the end of the Causeway and looking directly across the water to the Parliament Buildings.

The structure will have two automobile storage floors below the Humboldt Street level and at the salt water level there will be wharves and fuel loading accommodation for private yachts and launches.

The property has 100 feet of frontage on Humboldt Street and runs 115 feet deep to the waterfront. Purchase of the property was completed by E. D. Lachue, manager of the Imperial Oil here, from the Buscombe Securities Company of Vancouver, trustees for the owners. The price paid was $350 a front foot. Besides the Humboldt Street frontage, the new owners have acquired a full waterfront lease.

EXCAVATED BEFORE WAR
Before the war the Dominion Trust Company owned the property and had excavated the site.

DEATH CALLS E. W. BOK AT FLORIDA HOME

Man Long Known as Editor of Ladies' Home Journal Succumbs at Sixty-six

Lake Wales, Fla., Jan. 9.—Edward William Bok, who came to this country as an immigrant boy from the Netherlands and carved out for himself a distinguished position in public life as an editor and philanthropist, died here to-day. He was sixty-six years old.

Mr. Bok became ill shortly after his arrival with Mrs. Bok from Merion, Pa., four days ago, and his condition became critical yesterday. He passed away at 4:25 a.m. to-day from a heart attack.

Yesterday his father-in-law, Cyrus H. Curtis, and other relatives were summoned to his bedside. His sons, Curtis and Cary, however, did not arrive before his death.

Following his retirement in 1919 as editor of The Ladies' Home Journal, a magazine for whose success he was largely responsible, Mr. Bok spent much of his time in Florida.

In his thirty years as editor, Mr. Bok was associated with Cyrus H. Curtis, wealthy Philadelphia publisher, and in that city he was known as a patron of the fine arts.

Frost Checks Rise Of Ontario Rivers

Canadian Press

Toronto, Jan. 9.—Ontario citizens are resting comfortably, particularly those residing in the lowlands and on the banks of creeks and rivers, for there were several degrees of frost last night which checked the serious flood conditions which had existed during the preceding twenty-four hours from one end of the province to the other.

All day Wednesday and last night reports reached this city of record-breaking volumes of water rushing along streams and overflowing in many places. Hardly a town or city in the province located anywhere near a creek or river but reported flood conditions. Cellars in many homes were flooded, but it was taken for granted that with the advent of colder weather danger of any more serious damage to property had been averted.

ICE GOES OUT
Following twenty-four hours of continuous rain, the ice in the Grand River in the vicinity of Galt broke up Tuesday night and passed down the river without doing any harm. This is said to be the earliest breakup in seventy-two years.

In the vicinity of London and Chatham anxious citizens watched the River Thames rise to the breaking point. Late yesterday it had commenced to subside.

Nephew of Chinese Minister Sze Puts End to His Life

Shanghai, Jan. 9.—Sze Chun-yu, nephew of Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister of Great Britain, committed suicide last night after loss of $20,000 through speculation in gold bars from Nanking. The suicide was regarded here as a tragic note in the slump of silver on the market.

According to Government experts, the government's immediate loss as a result of the slump exceeds $10,000,000.

Edmonton, Jan. 9.—Stories of miraculous escapes from death were told by several Edmonton passengers who reached here at 6:30 a.m. to-day on the C.N.R. Continental Limited, which struck a split rail and hurtled over an embankment near Gerald, Sask., yesterday. The train arrived in Edmonton seven and one-half hours late.

Tribute was paid to the work of the train crew, and the travelers also had warm praise for a nurse from the town of Gerald, who walked two and one-half miles in 52 below zero weather to render first aid to the injured passengers.

She declined to give her name.

VANCOUVER LOSES LANDMARK AS OLD CLUB IS TORN DOWN

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—The old Vancouver Club building is being razed.

In a few days its stained brick walls will be bare of thirty-five years' growth of ivy. The sagging gabled roof will be torn away. Then the walls and interior will go beneath the pickaxe.

Before the end of the month nothing will be left of the melancholy-looking, draughty structure at 901 West Hastings Street.

More than "just another building" passes with the destruction of the old Vancouver Club, afterward used by the Great War Veterans' Association, more recently the Quadra Club's headquarters, and for the past few months vacant. The wreckers will be tearing down a landmark.

If, in this democratic day, British Columbia and Vancouver can be said to possess an aristocracy, its cradle was this chateau-like edifice, built in 1892. The most distinguished men of the Province, the pioneers of present development, met behind its walls.

NEW EFFORT IN OLD CASE TO COLLECT BONDS

W. Dunbar Conspiracy Conviction of 1894 Reviewed at Portland, Ore.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 9.—The thirty-five-year-old William Dunbar conspiracy and smuggling case, which commanded newspaper front pages here in 1893, 1894 and 1895, was unearthed yesterday by the United States attorney's office when a move was projected to collect $17,000 in bail bonds alleged to have been jumped in 1893 by Dunbar.

The matter was brought to life again recently when the Attorney General's office learned Dunbar had died in June, 1929, leaving an estate appraised by the Supreme Court of British Columbia at $729,647 at Victoria, B.C. International law, members of the local district attorney's staff declared, would not prevent collection of old debts from the estate.

Review the case yesterday, J. W. McCulloch, assistant United States district attorney, found in one yellowed Federal Court file that William Dunbar, with others, was named in six indictments in 1893 and 1894 on charges of conspiracy to smuggle prepared opium and Chinese laborers into the United States.

Dunbar, the records revealed, was sentenced by Federal Judge Ballinger February 13, 1894, to serve two years in the Multnomah County jail and to pay a fine of $1,000. The case was appealed to the United States Supreme Court and the decision confirmed. When the time came for Dunbar to start serving the sentence, the records disclosed, he had disappeared.

Subsequently Dunbar was found to have been living in Hongkong, where he was said to have amassed his fortune. In August, 1928, he moved to Victoria, B.C., where he remained until his death.

In the meantime, on November 7, 1913, President Wilson granted a complete and full pardon for Dunbar. Whether or not the pardon will interfere with collection of bail bonds is the question local authorities say is worrying them.

JAPAN LARGE BUYER OF CANADIAN ZINC

Surprise was expressed in some quarters a few days ago over the announcement that the zinc concentrates of Base Metals Mining Corporation were to be shipped to Japan, the extent of Canada's zinc trade with that country not being generally recognized. Examination of the export figures issued monthly by the Dominion bureau of statistics reveals the fact that Japan is this country's second largest buyer of the metal, its purchases being exceeded only by those of the United Kingdom.

During the early part of 1929 France, Germany and the Netherlands took a large part of Canada's production of zinc spelter (commercial zinc) but more recently the unsatisfactory European market has brought about the necessity of developing new markets, with the result that exports to the Orient were increased and heavy shipments were made to Argentina and to Chile. During the last half of the year, too, Belgium was a heavy buyer of zinc ores.

Zinc spelter trade with the United Kingdom held up well, a total of 42,625,200 pounds being placed there in the first eleven months of 1929. During the same five months of this year 6,340,100 pounds of spelter were shipped to Belgium, against only 1,624,900 pounds in the following six months. In the latter period, however, the country purchased 16,835,700 pounds of zinc ores after having been out of the market entirely from January to May. Exports of spelter to Germany in the first five months were 17,926,900 pounds, compared with 3,641,300 pounds from June to November, inclusive. France received 8,049,000 pounds and the Netherlands 6,499,900 pounds in the eleven-month period. No shipments to the Netherlands have been made since July.

Exports of zinc spelter in eleven months to Japan totaled 30,896,400 pounds; to China, 291,300 pounds; to Argentina, 6,328,000 pounds; and to Chile, 337,700 pounds. In addition, France purchased 7,481,200 pounds and Germany 1,411,400 pounds of zinc ores.

The Campbellton fire department was summoned and only at 9 o'clock was water obtained with which to fight the spreading flames.

PLANES FOUND UNSUITED FOR ARCTIC SEARCH

Washington, Jan. 9.—Representatives of the Interior Department, interested in pressing the search for Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borden in northern Siberia, conferred yesterday with P. Northeast Ely, Assistant Executive Secretary of the Interior, said the War Department had tried to make its planes available for the search, but because these equipped with skis had water-cooled motors and did not have a long cruising radius, they could not be used in the Arctic.

MIXED FARMING MANITOBA'S HOPE, STATES CRERAR

New Federal Minister of Railways Addresses United Farmers

Canadian Press Brandon, Man., Jan. 9.—Manitoba's future must be built on a foundation of mixed farming. Agrarian leaders known across Canada last night told the United Farmers of Manitoba at their annual convention here that they must reorganize their agricultural system and seek stable markets through the medium of quality products.

Hon. T. A. Crerar, Federal Minister of Railways, discussed no politics in his first speech since his entry into the King Cabinet. The president of the United Grain Growers, who intends to resign his office within a week or ten days, urged the United Farmers' lobby to continue operation. He suggested that the farmers investigate means of developing diversified farming and seek to improve rural education.

Agricultural reorganization in Manitoba was necessary to a greater degree than in the provinces to the west, Mr. Crerar held. He considered the province was paying the penalty of constantly cropping the land with wheat, due to a "grain complex." Mixed farming, he said, would meet the need of man and assure farmers a livelihood.

MARKET QUESTION

Markets for produce of diversified farming were being lost to Canadians, said Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, for tariff barriers were rising in almost every land but Great Britain. Efforts to assure quality in products and a steady flow of goods to the market, he thought, would serve to make new fields for distribution and to hold those already established.

A similar note was struck by H. S. Argill, Dominion livestock commissioner. The Ottawa authority stressed the need of thorough business organization in agriculture in order to keep abreast of industrial advance. In purchasing and distribution, and in the export trade, he insisted attention to quality would develop a reputation and resultant profit for Canada.

INSURANCE INQUIRY

Insurance against agricultural ills, as a means of remedying the farmers' financial condition, is to be investigated by the directors of the United Farmers. The convention voted to instruct its board of directors to inquire into the feasibility of crop insurance and similar protection.

For another year the destinies of the United Farmer Women of Manitoba will be guided by Mrs. S. E. Gee-Curtis of Neepawa. Mrs. Curtis was chosen president of the women's body for the fourth time. Her election yesterday was by acclamation. Mrs. James Elliott of Cardale was elected as vice-president.

DOING YEOMAN SERVICE

MAYOR ANSCOMB HAS DECLARED

himself in favor of the largest grant that is economically possible for the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. He told the Gyro Club at its luncheon meeting on Monday that the organization was doing yeoman service, and that if the grant were withdrawn, it would be a retrograde step, since "it has done much to build up the tourist business of the city."

Many of those who a year or so ago thought money spent on advertising Victoria was something in the nature of a costly luxury obviously now are realizing that this annual expenditure pays greater dividends than any other civic investment. It is a comparative trifle; but every cent is being used to the fullest advantage, and the returns run into millions of dollars, increasing from year to year. Through the work of the bureau, its ordinary advertising campaign and its special articles in newspapers and periodicals of this continent and other parts of the world, the attractions of Victoria and Vancouver Island in general have been brought to the attention of many millions of people. It is only necessary to consult the register which the Bureau maintains, or the files of its correspondence with people far and near, to understand the comprehensiveness of its publicity and the success which continues to attend it.

It will do no harm to repeat that this is an advertising age. The preparation of advertisements and publicity has developed into a science. Methods to attract the attention of the public have undergone a radical change in the last twenty-five years. Necessity has been responsible for a good deal of it. It is essential to business. The merchant who does not advertise loses contact with his customers. The argument applies in the wider sense. As with the store, so with the city, the province, and the nation.

We are strikingly reminded of these facts by the annual financial return Canada derives from the tourist business, business largely stimulated by publicity. Only a few years ago the Dominion's "holiday turnover" was far from being considered as approaching national importance. Yet the annual return from the tourist "industry" alone now is considerably more than the amount of the national debt before the war. The 1929 yield will probably surpass the return for the Dominion's wheat crop.

If there are those who still doubt the wisdom of Victoria's annual expenditure on publicity, let them consider for a moment what the Canadian Pacific Railway Company is spending to tell the outside world all about the addition to the Empress Hotel. Would this corporation have added to its facilities here to the extent of nearly $3,000,000 if the work of the Publicity Bureau had not increased Victoria's reputation abroad—the return for judicious use of the advertising grant which is placed at its disposal each year? The many additions to the railway company's coastwise fleet, moreover, not forgetting the three new floating palaces with which the Canadian National Railway will inaugurate its triangular ferry service, are intended to cater to the continually growing traffic to this city and Island.

It is this tourist business which the Mayor quite properly says the Publicity Bureau has done so much to build up.

THE OLD GAME

ALTHOUGH ONE OF THE CONDI-

tions in the agreement recently negotiated by the British and Soviet governments was an undertaking by the authorities at Moscow to put an end to all Communist propaganda within the British Empire, the newspaper Ivestia, the official organ of the Soviet government, says no change in the propaganda activities of the Communist International organization will take place.

This question has been raised again by the London press as a result of abusive articles in a new "red" daily which appeared in the British metropolis on New Year's Day. The London Times asks Mr. Arthur Henderson, Foreign Secretary in Mr. MacDonald's government, to protest against them. Ivestia has replied to the paper's demand that the new journal in question belongs to one of the sections of the Communist International, and the dispatch states, "for this reason Communist headquarters in Moscow had the right to send a message to the London publication, and equally naturally it could not urge on British workers the need for industrial peace or for supporting the Labor government."

It is not clear with what authority Ivestia speaks for the Soviet government. It has been clear, however, for some time, despite all protestations to the contrary, that the Third Internationale, the Communist Party of Russia, and the Soviet government constitute one political organization—the Soviet government. It has suited the administration, of course, to convey the idea that it is unable to exert any influence over the activities of either of the other bodies, particularly the Third Internationale, the body responsible for all the world-revolution and other propaganda.

In spite of these declarations, however, the agreement into which Britain and Russia now have entered for the resumption of diplomatic relations contains a provision stipulating that propaganda aimed to stir up discontent in any part of the British Empire shall cease forthwith. If the statement of Ivestia, therefore, was issued with the sanction of the Moscow government, an explanation to the British government would appear to be necessary. In any case, the incident is a reminder that the undertakings of those in authority in Russia have more regard for expediency than honesty of purpose.

DYING FOR A TRINKET

TWO HOLD-UP MEN ENTERED AN

eastern shoe store recently, pointed their revolvers at a sixty-year-old clerk, backed him into a corner, and proceeded to relieve him of his valuables. The old gentleman did not have much, but what he had they took. They took everything, that is, except a cheap ring he was wearing. That he refused to part with. The gunmen got angry and threatened to kill him. He was obstinate, although the ring obviously was not worth much. They persisted; he hung on to it—until, at last, one of the thugs got tired of arguing about it and shot him to death.

This provided a brief mystery for the store's manager and the police after the hold-up men had gone. Why should the old chap have clung so desperately to a little, tarnished ring that could be duplicated for a dollar or two in any store? Then it was learned that the ring was a keepsake which the old clerk's dead wife had given him years ago. And that, of course, cleared up the mystery. But did it? We can understand how the man felt; we can even begin to explain the much deeper mystery that lies back of it all—the mystery that is involved in every building up of affections, memories and sentiments about some reminder of a beloved phantom?

All of us, to some extent, share in that sort of thing. For everyone there is some token of the past that is dear beyond words. It may be something cheap, even slightly ridiculous—an old ring, a withered flower, a broken toy, a faded snapshot, but we would not part with it. It means, sometimes, as much as life itself. Why should this be so? Perhaps it is because we all know something that we do not often talk about—that the world is often a lonely place, and sometimes a cruel place.

Most of us have to feel that somewhere in the universe there is another spirit we can touch. But these others, on whom we depend, go away. So we cling to the inanimate objects that they used, or wore, or gave to us; and, by clinging to them, we conjure up ghosts; lovely, comforting, companionable ghosts, that make life endurable and keep us from going mad with loneliness.

Yet it is still a mystery. We have our moments of doubt, in which we are not quite sure whether we are lonely because we are such a long way from our true home, on the other side of the stars, or simply because we have no home there at all, and are eternally adrift in black night. So we clutch our trinkets closely—and defend them with our lives.

WHEN STREETS ARE SLIPPERY

ALTHOUGH WE ARE NOT OFTEN

troubled with slippery streets in Victoria, we are never quite sure when a fall of wet sleet or snow is going to be followed at this time of the year by a sharp frost which turns sidewalks and thoroughfares into glassy surfaces. But we are not quite sure how the motorists and pedestrians of this community would feel about the advice given recently by the chairman of the executive committee of the Public Safety League of Detroit.

This official was bemoaning that city's high traffic casualty list and suggested ironically that the streets be flooded every day in winter so that they would never always be thoroughly slippery. "During the last seven days of icy pavements," he points out, "not one person was killed. The driver thinks about his own life when it is slippery, and so does the pedestrian. As a result, everyone is more cautious." His remedy might produce disastrous results. It ought not to be necessary to create an obviously dangerous condition to instill in the minds of motorists and pedestrians alike the need for caution.

But we have seen at times in this city the effect produced by slippery streets. The injunction to "cross crossings cautiously" is adopted by most people, whether a foot or a wheel, and dignified pedestrians prefer to sacrifice their dignity, rather than run the risk of losing their balance.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

An American has just established a record for standing still for five days. I understand that at the end of that time his wife emerged from the department store.—London Sunday Pictorial.

A good deal of embarrassment would be avoided if statesmen visiting another country should become afflicted with lockjaw while there.—High River Times.

The Twin City Star is not, as might be at first supposed, a product of Fort William or Port Arthur, but is published by Alfred W. Law at Rouyn, Que., in the interests of Rouyn and Noranda. It is bilingual, and with the issue of July 5 makes what is intended to be a weekly bow to the public hereafter. But there are difficulties in bowing in two languages. In the first issue a man who was drowned is described as Pete Carberry, thirty-five, in the English version, and Patrick Cabara, thirty-six, in the French. In the English account the canoe was overturned when the occupants were passing a box of matches; in the French it struck an obstacle. But these difficulties will doubtless be overcome.—Toronto Star.

AN OLD MYTH EXPLORED

The Manitoba Free Press

Figures are now available which bring to a definite conclusion the long-drawn-out discussion regarding the existing scale of railway freight rates on grain. As is well known, these rates were set under the Crow's Nest Pass agreement in the teeth of the railways which have always insisted that the carriage of grain on such terms involved them in loss. This fall, however, there came a change. Special circumstances, the chief of which was the short western crop, brought about a sharp and alarming decrease in railway earnings. Sir Henry Thornton and Mr. E. W. Beatty both issued statements on the situation, and it became at once apparent that both railways were depending upon grain for a large part of their net profits. Neither railway has yet issued a statement explaining how they could at one and the same time carry grain at a loss and make their profits out of that carriage.

A THOUGHT

There are, it may be, so many kinds of voices in the world, and none of them is without significance.—Confucius, XIV 10.

For one word a man is often deemed to be wise, and for one word he is often deemed to be foolish. We ought to be careful indeed what we say.—Confucius.

Loose Ends

A little appeal to your better nature, if any, on behalf of the birds—a strange tale from Mount Athos—and the approach of a hatless world.

By H. B. W.

BEFORE WE get down to the sordid daily business of this column, let us think for a moment about the birds in this sharp weather. Even a quarter of an inch of snow, such as lies on the ground when this is written, is a mighty serious thing for the birds, for you can imagine just how you would feel if you had to pick up your breakfast of frozen, snow-covered ground. You will find a great deal of satisfaction in feeding the birds, and they will show their appreciation by coming back for more, with a confidence in you undimmed by a close acquaintance. To allow such confidence to perish would be a miserable thing indeed. Therefore, feed the birds, feed them small grain, bread crumbs, scraps of meat, anything left over from your own meals; feed it to them with a little sand or grit if you can get it (they require it for scientific reasons which I don't understand) and feed them in a sheltered spot from which you have swept the snow. The best plan is to put the food on a board where they can pick it up easily. Food thrown out into the snow they will not be able to find. The memory of birds about such things is remarkably long. Outside my window eating their breakfast are fourteen quail and a miscellaneous assortment of sparrows which have not visited me since the last cold snap. They know their friends.

IF YOU are ever tempted to discouragement, particularly during such periods as the present cold snap, when the water pipes burst and the wind whistles through your walls, think about Father Ilya. Father Ilya is one of the most remarkable men of our time, and of all men he is without the question the least known. A party of American travelers discovered him on Mount Athos, that same Mount Athos famous in history as the place where the Persian fleet foundered in a storm on its way to reach Greece. Around Mount Athos flourish monasteries which have scarcely changed by one syllable of a prayer since the fourth century. Father Ilya lives.

HE LIVES in a cave among a labyrinth of bowlders, a place with a pure blue sky and the sound of bees. The American travelers said he had eyes "like clear-shining little blue stones, without fear, without self." He cried softly, for joy, and knelt and thanked them for coming to see him, for he had seen but sixteen other people in all his thirty-seven years there. He said he had been a farmer and then a soldier in Russia's wars, killing many people. He had gone to a monastery to be purified, but he had found there too much comfort (two meals a day, four hours of sleep, eight hours of prayer and the rest work). So he climbed up the mountain alone and lived in his cave. He said he wanted to see God so he tried fasting, carrying heavy stones on a thong about his neck, hanging himself by his arms and burying himself up to the waist in earth. Still he did not see God, so he decided that first he must die to complete his quest.

NOW, HE said, he was very happy. He refused the supplies of food which the visitors offered him, but accepted an overcoat, because he said he was getting cold, and the nights in his cave were so cold sometimes that the snakes would creep to him for warmth. On one favor he insisted—the visitors must never tell his real name, but call him "Father Ilya" or anything like that. "Because I have put away the world," he explained, "and now I will still know that no one is thinking about me, that I am here all alone."

WHEN THIS astounding world seems more than you can bear and the water pipes are frozen and the north wind whistles down through your house, you will find it comforting to think of Father Ilya in his cave high up on Mount Athos, with his overcoat, his friendly snakes and his happiness, and you will conclude, maybe, that there are things in this astounding world which they never taught you in school.

THE SORRILY-TIED country of Hungary faces a new economic problem. The rage for going bareheaded has reached such a pass there that the great Hungarian hat industry is in despair, and the hatless of Budapest refuse to do business with any commercial traveler or agent who goes hatless. We could afford to smile at Hungary's troubles were it not that they are likely to overwhelm us before long. We have in Victoria a well-established cult of hat-haters who reuse to cover their heads in the heaviest rain or the fiercest cold. Among the younger bloods of the village the craze is spreading so rapidly that the affect on the Canadian hat industry must become serious before long.

THE EXTRAORDINARY thing about all this, however, is not its economic but its psychological aspect. The young men who insist on going about bareheaded imagine that they are actuated by a remarkable hardihood, and many persons of the opposite sex suppose that they are displaying a rare and notable courage. Actually the facts are quite the contrary. The hat-haters are usually cake-eaters in disguise, and they are actuated by a craven fear of going bald. They are the worst of cowards, because they fear the ordinary course of nature, and their anxiety is precisely like that of a man who fears the rising of the sun in the morning and is going down at night. Also, it is equally futile, for it is based on the old theory that hats will make you bald—a theory inspired by the fact that many men who do wear hats go bald. With equal logic it can be proved that many men, who have eaten three meals a day have died young, and that a wise man, therefore, will eat two meals or four and thus assure himself of a long life. The truth, of course, is that if you are going bald you are going bald, and you should do it gracefully. After all, what is more graceful than a bald head in a well-lighted ball room?

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, January 9, 1905

They are off! The candidates for the municipal contest were officially started on their race by the returning officer, W. W. Northcott, this afternoon, and on Thursday they will know their fate.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity: Light to moderate winds, continued fine and cold.

The Steamer Maude came around from Esquimalt this morning with three screws in tow, loaded with naval stores for transshipment to Hongkong on the steamer Keemun.

After making a call at the usual stopping points in China and Japan en route from Liverpool, which port she left on October 18, and after delivering supplies to the Calchas, of the line, which has been seized by the Russians and subsequently released, the Blue Funnel liner Keemun, Captain Conradi, arrived at the outer wharf yesterday. She comes to discharge about 500 tons of general freight.

A company has been formed here under the title of Morris, Baird & Co. to engage in the manufacture of metal polish, writing inks of all descriptions and washing blue.

Surrounded by an admiring throng, greeted with enthusiasm by prominent J.B.A.A. members and accorded unstinted praise on all hands, R. Feden, the clever James Bay forward, must have felt considerably elated after the first senior league basketball game on Saturday night, having scored the goal that gave the J.B.A.A. boys victory over the champion Victoria West five, the first time that team has suffered defeat for two seasons.

SOVIET OFFICIAL

IS EXILED BY

JAIL SENTENCE

Moscow, Jan. 9.—M. Besedovsky, former charge d'affaires of the Soviet Embassy at Paris, yesterday was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment after conviction of embezzlement of funds of the Embassy. Besedovsky, however, is still in France, so the sentence would appear to have no other effect than to exile him.

The public prosecutor decided to investigate further allegations that Besedovsky had indulged in treacherous activities against the Soviet Government and may present charges on this score to a court later, in which case death doubtless would be the penalty. Besedovsky ignored an invitation of the Soviet Government to send a lawyer from Paris to defend him at the trial yesterday.

LONG EYELASHES

MEAN SICK CHILD

Chicago, Jan. 9.—While beautiful eyelashes, long and silky, are much to be admired on a new-born infant, they are a sign of bad health, according to Dr. Tamaoko of Tokio.

He recently told the American Medical Society that he had reached that conclusion after having examined 7,000 children.

The above statement, he said, was particularly true of babies born with a trace of tuberculosis. They had eyelashes much longer than a healthy child.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

CEREAL USUALLY FIRST

ADDITIONAL FOOD FOR BABY

It is the underweight and hungry baby whose mother begins to look around for some possible food with which to appease his appetite. The baby bounding upward in weight is looked upon as "doing all right" and the mother is apt to put off the day of additional feedings as a necessary evil of the future.

It is better, for several considerations, to begin early to feed the baby additional foods. And "additional" means just what its name implies, for cereal is "extra" and not a substitute for some other food already in the diet. When the mother asks, "shall I give baby food cereal and his bottle?" she is thinking of cereal as a food in place of the formula. This it is not. Unless she uses some of the formula over the cereal, she gives the full bottle formula in addition to it.

Usually at five months we give baby his first taste of this new food. We give it by spoon, because it is highly desirable that he learn how to manage foods from a spoon. It is possible, if he is badly in need of the food and refuses it, to put the cereal with the formula, but one must think of this as only a temporary makeshift. It is always a mistake to put everything in a baby's bottle formula just because it is easier to get the various foods "into" baby this way. He needs practice in swallowing thicker foods. He needs practice in accepting foods from either spoon or cup. The baby who can sit up and hasn't been made fearful of spoons by previous disagreeable experience with "nasty" medicines, or a spoonful of burning soup or cereal, is usually only too willing to swallow anything offered him.

ALWAYS START NEW FOODS IN SMALL AMOUNTS

If we want to prejudice baby in favor of his new food we must have it smooth, thin enough to swallow easily, and delicious to the taste, we should give it to him before his bottle or his nursing and not wait until he is filled to the chin and in no mood to swallow another mouthful.

We should begin with teaspoonful amounts, a portion that commonly seems too small to the mother, who thinks of cereal in terms of full glasses. But mothers learn by bitter experience that new foods must always be given in small amounts, given cautiously for days or even weeks and increased slowly, so that baby's small stomach will learn to digest them without trouble.

Keep in mind an idea of what constitutes an ordinary portion for a six-months baby, and then for a year-old baby and work towards those amounts. Baby's own appetite is a fair guide and these normal portions a good check-rein. Our feeding leaflet offers an appetizing recipe for this first cereal and the bones of cereal themselves suggest the way to put the ingredients together. I find some young mothers are unaware that cereal is always poured slowly into the rapidly boiling liquid, stirred until thick and then cooked for an hour or more in a double boiler. The feeding leaflet just requires the usual self-addressed and stamped envelope enclosed with your request, both sent to me in care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

Manitoba Bans Married Women Civil Servants

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 9 (By the Canadian Press)—Acting on instructions of the provincial government, C. M. McCann, civil service commissioner, has issued an order, effective the first day of the New Year, that no married women, whose husbands are wage-earners, will be employed by the government.

Only in exceptional circumstances, such as where it is found that a married woman seeking a position in the government service is responsible for the support of her dependents, will the rule not always apply. There are at present about eighteen married women holding civil service positions, but all will possibly not be ejected, as investigation has not yet been made into their individual cases. Those on whom falls the responsibility of supporting their families will be retained, it was officially stated.

"There is no intention of creating any hardship on anyone," Mr. McCann said, "but under this policy there will no longer be an opening for this criticism so often levelled of employing married women who do not need work."

DEATH CALLS E. W. BOK AT FLORIDA HOME

In the well regulated life of every man there should be three distinct periods, declared Edward W. Bok at the time of his retirement as editor of the Ladies' Home Journal after a service of thirty years in that position. The story of his own life was remarkable for his adherence to the plan of living enunciated by him, which consisted of:

1. The period of education.
2. The period of achievement.
3. The period of retirement as a community asset.

HIS START IN LIFE

His parents, forced by financial reverses to seek out a meagre living in Brooklyn, N.Y., young Bok was unable to attend the public schools after he was thirteen years old. He became an office boy for the Western Union. By dint of studious application at night he managed to fit himself for the editorship of the Brooklyn Magazine, a task he assumed at the age of nineteen. His period of education came to a close much sooner than in the case of the average college man of to-day.

Bok's period of achievement dated from the time of his acceptance of the editorship of the Ladies' Home Journal, tendered him by Cyrus H. K. Curtis when he was but twenty-five years old.

In 1894 Bok published "The Young Man in Business" and "The Young Man and the Church." These books were followed by "Success" in 1895 and "Why I Believe in Poverty" in 1915.

INEXORABLE WORKS

On September 22, 1919, the date of Bok's retirement as editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, after accumulating a fortune, being the third period of his life, ostensibly the period of retirement, but a matter of fact, a time filled to the brim with activities encompassing many lines of benevolent endeavor.

"Retire from work while young enough to enjoy life. Become a civic asset to the community," had been Bok's advice to many a successful business man. A mere enumeration of some of his plans would convince one of the benefits derived from self-application of the advice.

PEACE PRIZE

Foremost among the distinguished public services rendered by Bok was his donation of the Bok Peace Prize of $10,000 to any United States citizen who could advance the "best practical plan by which the United States may co-operate with other nations to attain and preserve world peace."

Another outstanding effort of the period of retirement was the publishing of "The Americanization of Edward Bok," an autobiography written a half century after his start to success as an immigrant boy from The Netherlands. The book, widely read, was acclaimed by university authorities the leading autobiography of his generation.

PHILADELPHIA AWARD

Other Bok accomplishments were these: Created the Philadelphia award of $10,000 to be given each year to the person who performed a single act calculated to promote the best interests of Philadelphia.

Made possible the Philadelphia Forum, a benefit to teachers and civilians of limited means, providing an extensive list of lectures, concerts and entertainments at a nominal sum.

Made the Academy of Music the civic centre of Philadelphia.

For five years he was the unknown donor who paid $250,000 in deficits sustained by the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Created eight annual awards consisting of a gold medal and $5,000 to promote better newspaper and periodical advertising in the United States and Canada.

Established the Philadelphia Citizens' Award, whereby each year the three policemen, the three Fairmount Park guards and the three firemen who perform the most meritorious acts of public service receive $1,000 each.

Promoted the Dutch branch of the Netherlands-American Foundation for the advancement of further relations in art and industry between Holland and the United States.

BORN IN HOLLAND

Bok was born at Ben Helder, Holland, October 9, 1853. His great grandfather was admiral of the Dutch navy; his grandfather, William Bok, chief justice of the Supreme Court; and his father, William J. H. Bok, one of the ministers of the court of William III. His father left Holland because of a reversal of fortune and with his family settled in Brooklyn in 1869.

In 1890 he married Miss Mary Louise Curtis, daughter of Cyrus H. K. Curtis, head of the Curtis Publishing Company, which publishes The Saturday Evening Post and The Country Gentleman.

There are two sons, Curtis, who resides at Rosemont, Pa., and Cary, who lives at Merion, Pa. Honorary degrees of LL.D. were conferred on Mr. Bok by Pope Pius in 1907, by Rutgers College in 1923 and by Tufts College in 1925.

VICTORIA MEN CRASH BEAUTY PARLORS NOW

Modern Youth Rivals Sister in Love of Charming Marcel Waves and Permanents

Vancouver, Seattle, Spokane and Los Angeles Also Report Man's Desire For Beauty

The cost of marcel waves, finger waves, reels and all other creations of the beauty parlor which tax the purse of the modern young lady now also forms a serious problem for the youth of British Columbia who would be thoroughly up-to-date.

Scores of young men to whom style is a matter of real importance, have followed their example and to-day many of them in Victoria are as keenly interested in a perfect and lasting marcel, the changing styles of hair-dressing and the time a wave will last as their sisters who some time ago crowded them out of the barber shops. The matter is even more important to them than it is to their sisters for where the ladies cover their crowning glory with hats once in a while the marcelled young men are hatless on all occasions. Even the winter weather of "miserable few days" has not forced them to cover their beautified hair with a hat like less courageous males wear.

Beauty parlor of Victoria tell of brisk business from young men of the city. Their appointment lists show that the business from males forms a big item in the day's takings. Quite a few of them favor the "permanents."

Others make appointments for a wave and subsequent re-set. For the benefit of the uninitiated a re-set is a little renovation to the original wave when it shows signs of disappearing.

The young men of Victoria have been infected with the same enthusiasm for beauty parlor treatments, according to information from that thriving metropolis. Males who used to raise their hands in horror at the appearance of women in beauty "shops" have changed their minds, a report from Vancouver says.

The permanent wave has been the downfall of the male resolution, and here and there about Vancouver is now to be noticed faultlessly waved male hair that had its genesis under the permanent waving machines of the district beauty shops.

ALL HAVE ADDICTS While Vancouver males have not taken to this kind of beauty culture in quite such numbers as their counterparts in the city declare that the occasional youth drifts into their establishments and has the front of his hair carefully waved, Seattle and Los Angeles are more to the fore with adorned male heads than any of the other coast cities declares an official of the licensing department of the State of Washington. Spokane, too, has its addicts.

It is estimated that Vancouver spends $500,000 annually on beauty culture and its 190 licensed shops have shown thirty-three per cent increase in the last year. With every bobbed head requiring about $5 annually for hair cutting, $30 for waving, either permanent or marceling, and another $25 for cosmetics and other incidentals.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

JACKIE Fields, welterweight champion, has been matched for another of his "non-title" bouts and this time it is with Young Corbett 3rd. This southpaw Fields' manager said he never would let Jackie fight. Before he became champion Fields was as reckless a boxer as anybody would want to see—a wonderful boxer who would take any fighting chance. It was predicted by the experts that if he became champion Jackie would be a fighting champion among a lot of paluka-titlers but they were all wrong.

Fields has gone the way of all the rest of them. The champion has been matched for a "non-title" bout in all cases. Jackie has been boxing non-title bouts for months, his latest being on Monday night at Philadelphia against Alf King, whom he defeated easily. Young Corbett 3rd is a welterweight and entitled to title honors. He looks like he won't get it as long as Rooney is managing Fields. Perhaps after all it isn't the fighter's fault when he engages in "so many" non-title bouts as a champion. It can be put up to the manager who is the "business man" of the combination, chiefly interested in protecting his "asset."

It wouldn't be a bad idea if all boxing commissions ruled absolutely against these fake "non-title" matches in which a champion's title is protected by the agreement forcing the other man to come in overweight, or two commissions in the United States have made such rules before, but haven't enforced them when some favored promoter came in and begged for the privilege of putting on a champion with a fatted-up rival on the ground that the match can't be made any other way.

There has been some question in the minds of most of the boxing fans about the ability of the new world's featherweight champion, Christopher "Burr" Battalino, the Hartford boy who took the title away from Andre Routs of France, several months ago. Matches for Battalino with Bass and Lew Masri of Philadelphia are still in the tentative stage. Battalino hasn't made a fighting gesture since winning the title.

Maybe it's because "Burr" smacks the boys so hard that he has trouble with his hands. After his affair with Routs "Burr" was badly damaged. A couple of writers said that he would be a great little fighter if he had a better pair of hooks. A fighter's hands are mighty important, though a good percentage of the boxers today seem to be using their legs and heads more than their mitts.

Babe Ruth and the New York Yankees are having another of their arguments over the Bambino's salary for the next year on the "Burr" contract. The contract expired at the end of last season and now Col. Jake Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, is attempting to get the "Big Boy's" signature on another bit of paper. Ruth is asking for a three-year contract at a yearly salary of $85,000. Quite a sum of money. Ruppert is offering a two-year contract with a yearly wage of $75,000. Ruth's last contract was for three years at $75,000 a year.

Ruppert says better and declares he won't pay what Ruth asks, but it would be a pretty safe gamble that when the Yankees step on to the diamond next year, Babe will be right out there in the pasture and he will have a contract calling for the salary he is asking for. The Yankees realize Ruth's drawing abilities at the turnstiles. Thousands of fans just go to see Babe and if he isn't in the line-up they won't go to the game. Ruth was last getting along in years but he has several seasons of baseball left in him yet. He would be invaluable just as a pinch-hitter.

"Y" Badminton Team Wins Over Church Players

In an exhibition badminton match played last night the Y.M.C.A. defeated the First United Church by nine to seven. The match was played on the floor of the former club and many loud shouts were witnessed.

In the women's doubles the teams broke even, while in the men's doubles the "Y" gained their lead by winning three out of the four matches. The mixed doubles were evenly divided.

The scores, with the Y.M.C.A. players first mentioned, follow:

College Athletes Preparing For Return Invasion

Local Students Hope to Cross Gulf to Meet Varsity Teams in Sports Programme Early in February; Craigdarroch Coaches Selecting Teams for Different Events; Victorians Counted Strong Favorites to Beat Mainlanders From Showing Here Last Week.

While no definite arrangements can be made until word is received from the Students' Council of the University of British Columbia, athletic teams at Victoria College are already preparing for their annual return invasion to Vancouver, expected to take place during the first or second week in February.

Pending word from Vancouver, the students are drawing up their different squads preparatory to going over for the meet. It is expected that virtually all college teams which played against Varsity here on January 3 and 4 will make the trip.

DETROIT NOW LOOMS UP AS A CONTENDER

Win Over Chicago To-night Would Put Cougars in Running For N.H.L. Honors

Rangers Must Beat Maroons to Hold Position; Ottawa and Toronto Battle

New York, Jan. 9.—Four contests are on to-night's National Hockey League programme. The game between the Boston Bruins and the Pittsburgh Pirates has been transferred from unprofitable Pittsburgh to frantic Boston. Boston already has won thirteen straight games.

Behind the Bruins in the American group standing the two teams which have been battling for second place may find a third contender. Detroit's Cougars, which started the season slowly, can place themselves just one point behind the third place Chicago Black Hawks by taking to-night's game at Detroit.

The New York Rangers, now holders of second place in the group, play at home against the present leaders of the international group, the Montreal Maroons. They must win to make their position safe or to keep out of a tie if Chicago turns the tables on Detroit.

The fourth game is due to decide third place in the international division, barring a tie. Ottawa and Toronto, tied for the position, meet on the latter's ice.

Ball Club Owner Ends Life in Park

New Orleans, Jan. 9.—A. J. Heinemann, president and owner of the New Orleans Southern Association Baseball Club, shot himself fatally early last night in his office at the local ball park that bears his name.

The baseball magnate has been in ill health for sometime, friends said, and had been given fits of despondency.

Coroner George F. Roeling pronounced the death a suicide.

Heinemann was fifty-one years and was a prominent figure in the organized baseball field. Although he lost heavily in the recent stock market fluctuations, friends said they believed his health and not his financial affairs, induced his act.

As in previous years, the rugby team is counted upon to cross the Gulf in strength to meet the crack Varsity intermediates, whom they held to a draw in Victoria this month.

Both men's and women's basketball quietness are also expected to make the trip, along with men's golf, women's grass hockey and possibly men's soccer teams.

VICTORIA BOYS CONFIDENT

Last year, owing to the condition of the grounds, the rugby teams were unable to play, but this season they hope to decide the issue left in abeyance when both fifteen and the field went out scoring here. The Victoria boys are confident of victory, and will undoubtedly put up a spirited game against the best intermediates, the University of British Columbia's "C" team. It is expected that their captain, Dave Ellis, who was not with the squad when they faced the U.B.C. last week, will be back on the line again and should strengthen the team considerably.

Both local basketball squads will be at full strength, while Varsity, weakened by the general shake-up which has disrupted the hoop teams of the school, will try to send better quality letters on to the floor than they did in this city.

Grass hockey eleven will in all probability be the same as those which met here, while the golf team from Victoria, if it does overtake, is counted a strong favorite to beat the mainlanders again.

Soccer, a sport which has just made the invasion programme for several years, may also be played this year. In the sport in which Varsity met Victoria College during the invasion, the visitors were only able to gain two draws against the local students. These were scored in intermediate rugby and basketball. In the golf, men's and women's basketball and women's grass hockey, the locals made a clean sweep of the events.

While the College rugby team will not be able to get in any practice until the weather breaks and the ground softens up, they were at a considerable handicap here owing to the fact that their backfield was unable to function properly because of the poor condition of the grounds. On the other hand they will be up against stronger opposition than they were in the game here. U.B.C. players realize they have a tough assignment before them. They came up against the present holders of the provincial intermediate championships and will do everything in their power to send a fast strong squad against them.

THE LINE-UPS

According to the general opinion at College, Larry Kennedy will play full-back while Chuck Copeland, Dave Patterson, Young, and Boon will be counted as three-quarters. Bud Winslow and Dave Ellis are expected to play five-eighths, with Ted Robinson looking for the scrum. The back will be composed of Grant, J. Rutland, Sprinkling, Knight, Senkler and Walton.

Phil Willis, secretary of the Victoria Rugby Union, and one of the coaches of the Victoria "reps," has been looking after the boys and hopes to have them in good shape for the trip to the Terminal City.

Under Captain Alf Foubister, the Victoria College men's basketball squad is looking forward to taking Varsity into camp again in the return game. In the fixture at the High School last Friday night, the locals gained the decision by two points. Although they will be under some handicap when they meet Varsity on the latter's floor, they hope to win again. The team is expected to be composed of C. Bissell, L. Prior, A. Foubister, J. Mortimer, G. Zume, R. Terry and G. Fraser.

SAME TEAM

The same girls' team which defeated the visitors here is expected to be out for the Vancouver encounter. The squad has shown remarkably good combination and accurate play during the season and should stand a good chance of beating their old rivals again.

Little is known of the girls' grass hockey eleven, the boys' soccer squad or the golf team, but they are reported to be of strength equal to that of the U.B.C. teams and will doubtless give accounts of themselves if they go to Vancouver.

As usual, the regular basketball games and invasion ball are expected to be held as additional attractions for the tournament and was never headed. In an effort to stop the champion Hall played ten safeties. Layton fell back on the same type of play when times in an attempt to stall off the menacing youth. Hall had a high run of four.

Well-known Jockey Is "Alive and Well"

Cincinnati, Jan. 9.—Grover C. Noel, jockey, Latonia, Ky., reported killed in an automobile accident at Lafayette, Ind., is at his home in Latonia "alive and well." Noel said yesterday he had not been away nor had he been in an accident. Someone perhaps used his name, Noel said.

JOE CURRY, 147 POUND GUARD, HAS PLAYED EVERY POSITION IN THE LINE ON PENN. FOOTBALL TEAM.

MISS GIVES KIECKHEFER A CLOSE WIN

Chicago Cue Artist Defeats Jordan to Remain in Running For U.S. Title

Johnny Layton, Defending Champion, Sensational to Beat Allan Hall

New York, Jan. 9.—By the proverbial hair's breadth, Angie Kieckhefer, Chicago's portside cue master, is still battling for the U.S. three cushion billiard title, and by the same distance Charlie Jordan of Los Angeles is still striving to get out of the cellar.

The fraction of an inch, which separates the two, is a matter of a few inches, which is a matter of a few inches, which is a matter of a few inches.

With the score tied at 49 all, Kieckhefer missed a natural, leaving a beautiful left hand that shoots out like a rapier on an opponent's jaw and has a wonderful way of protecting himself from dangerous blows. Carter stepped two rounds with Kid Stubbs, three with Jumbo Davies and one round with Albie Davies.

Fielding went through his daily workout previous to Carter, and Tommy appears in tip-top shape for the bout. Both fighters will work out again to-night, Fielding at 7 o'clock and Carter at 8.

THE CARD

The complete card for Saturday night's show follows:

Main event, ten rounds, 138 pounds—Leslie "Wildcat" Carter (Seattle), vs. "Tommy" Fielding (Victoria).

Semi-wind-up, six rounds, 145 pounds—"Dutch" Kaiser (Seattle), vs. "Kid" Stubbs (Victoria).

Second bout, four rounds, 135 pounds—"Don" Barclay (Seattle), vs. "Tommy" Drysdale (Victoria).

First bout, four rounds, 135 pounds—"Bank" Kimball (Seattle), vs. "Kid" McCoy (Victoria).

Ruth Shopping In Preparation For Training Session

New York, Jan. 9.—Babe Ruth spent yesterday spending money instead of trying to get more. The big Yankee home run hitter, after leaving his minimum terms of $85,000 on the desk of the Yankee Club officials, devoted yesterday to shopping preparatory to going south Saturday.

The slugger will go to St. Petersburg and Miami before starting active baseball training. His plans, he said, call for golf and more golf.

Ruth declared his demand for a three-year contract at $85,000 annually was serious and he expected to get it. Yankee officers repeated previous statements that they were not signing baseball players to three-year contracts now and offered Ruth their limit, $75,000 a year for two years.

Art Shires Has Collected $8,000 For His Fights

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Since becoming a professional fighter just a month ago last year, Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires has earned exactly $8,000 in four engagements, $2,500 more than he got for playing first base for the Chicago White Sox all last season.

The great man got the $8,000 in the short period of thirty days, compared to five months of baseball playing for $5,100; Shires' contract with the White Sox called for $3,500, but fines plastered on him ate up more than $3,000.

Shires expects to increase his ring earnings to more than $10,000 by meeting Al Spigner, catcher for the Braves, in Boston to-morrow night.

ROBINS WILL CATCH LOPEZ

Brilliant Young Spaniard Backstop Likely to Become First String Catcher

New York, Jan. 9.—At the National League meetings held here recently, Wilbert Robinson, of the Brooklyn club, declared that his only interest in the ivory market consisted of landing a hard-hitting catcher somewhere. "I'd like to put a bit of punch into the lower end of the Brooklyn batting order," the manager continued. And then, instead of acquiring a catcher, the Brooklyn club released one. Butch Henline went to Toledo to pick payment for Shortstop Jack Warner, acquired by the Robins in August.

The Tampa Spaniard is now twenty-two and has developed into the finest young catcher in a decade, according to George Napoleon Rucker, Professor Robinson's southern representative. Robins doubted the catching skill of Lopez. Through two training trips to Clearwater, all left-handed demonstrated his fine mechanical ability, his strong and accurate throwing, his keen and alert sense of catching strategy. He is another Mike Gonzales, with more color and more speed.

Taffy Abel Left At Home and Told To Reduce Weight

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Taffy Abel, the man mountain of defence on the Chicago Black Hawks hockey team, did not make the trip to Detroit yesterday with his team for a National League game, but was left at home and ordered to reduce his weight. Abel, who weighs around 220 pounds, has been slowed down because of excess pounds. He is working out daily at the Chicago Athletic Association.

Tommy Fielding's Opponent For Saturday Night Shows Class in Training

Both Fighters in Pink of Condition For Bout; Complete Card Announced

"Wildcat" Carter, dusky-skinned fighter from Seattle, who meets Tommy Fielding in a ten-round bout on Saturday night at the Tillamook gymnasium, showed his stuff to Victoria fans for the first time last night when he stepped through a brisk workout at the Broad Street quarters. Carter made a very favorable impression in the session and those in attendance were of the opinion that Fielding is in for a tough time when he steps into the ring.

Carter, a stockily-built boy, is as fast as lightning and possesses a beautiful left hand that shoots out like a rapier on an opponent's jaw and has a wonderful way of protecting himself from dangerous blows. Carter stepped two rounds with Kid Stubbs, three with Jumbo Davies and one round with Albie Davies.

Fielding went through his daily workout previous to Carter, and Tommy appears in tip-top shape for the bout. Both fighters will work out again to-night, Fielding at 7 o'clock and Carter at 8.

Would Be Included In Organization of Powerful Circuit

Prairie Thoroughbreders' Association Attempt to Arrange Merger of Vancouver, Victoria and Prairie Organizations in Order to Form One of Strongest Racing Circuits in Canada; Brighthouse and Lansdowne Make Arrangements for Coming Season; Install Starting Gates.

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—British Columbia race tracks will again operate under the same management during the 1930 season despite the fact that deals for four of the five Vancouver and Victoria organizations have been under discussion for nearly a week. Official announcement to this effect was made by local authorities with the departure of R. James Speers and Charlie Roe, manager and assistant manager, respectively, of the Prairie Thoroughbreders' Association.

Rumors to the effect that merger of Vancouver and Winnipeg tracks was contemplated have been circulated in the city for some months but until the arrival of Speers from the Manitoba capital last Saturday no credence was placed in the statements. The Prairie sportsmen investigated the local situation and also inspected the two-mile tracks before opening negotiations with officials of the Vancouver Racing Association.

RIP RAP IN FAST GOING

Covers Mile and Sixteenth in 1.52 1-5 to Win Handicap at Agua Caliente

New York, Jan. 9.—Breaking into a string of longest victories, Harry Payne Whitney's Chimney Sweep won the Chamblotte purse, feature at the Fair grounds track at New Orleans yesterday. Even in this event at six furlongs the winner was not the favorite. Chimney Sweep paid his backers at the rate of $10.70 in the $2 mutuels, the best of the three money horses.

Michigan Boy, an odds-on public choice, was put out of the running in some rough riding at the half-mile post.

The only favorite which triumphed was High Score, which took the $1,000 handicap, another six furlong dash.

At Havana the form players fared better and St. Jim, a 1 to 2 favorite, came home in the feature race, the six furlong Playa Jaimanitas purse. H. C. Rumage's preferred took the place and the Bell Farm's Loyola was third.

The Point-Loma Handicap, leading event at Agua Caliente, went to Rip Rap w/h Algonzo second and Lillian T. third. The winner covered the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:52 1-5.

Agua Caliente, Jan. 9.—Results of horse racing here yesterday follow:

First race, five furlongs—1. Eastern Seth, $5.50, $3.50, $2.50; 2. Phil K. $4.00, $4.00; 3. Son of Volta, $4.00. Time 1:33 4-5.

Second race, six furlongs—1. Wild Jammer, $3.50, $2.50, $2.50; 2. Arcadian Flag, $2.50, $2.50; 3. Kamuela, $3.50. Time 1:17 1-5.

Third race, five and a half furlongs—1. Sandy Man, $4.50, $3.50, $2.50; 2. Shasta Rose, $4.50, $3.50; 3. Homewood, $4.50. Time 1:08 4-5.

Fourth race, six furlongs—1. Henry Horner, $15.20, $5.40, $5.40; 2. Ripper, $2.50, $5.40; 3. Hong Kong, $3.50. Time 1:10 2-5.

Fifth race, mile and a sixteenth—1. Rip Rap, $6.00, $4.50, $3.50; 2. Algonzo, $4.00, $4.00; 3. Lillian T., $4.00. Time 1:52 1-5.

Coming from behind after a poor start, Britannia branch cueists in the Inter-Service Billiard League, forced to the front in one of the most keenly fought encounters since the beginning of the league to gain a 3-2 victory over the Veterans of Canada last night.

When the last two players went to the table, the Vets had a twenty-point lead. However, Jack Hall, cue expert for the branch, pointed up a twenty-three lead over his opponent to give his team a single point margin over the Veterans.

In the "B" section of the league, a team from the Pro Patria branch went down to defeat before the Army and Navy squad by a 5-0-5 score at the latter's tables.

Will Start Trek To-morrow In Rich Los Angeles Open

Fifth Annual $10,000 Tournament Will Commence at Riviera Country Club, With Cream of U.S. Professionals Competing; Rugged, Stubborn Course Is Worrying Field; Smith, Hagen and Diegel and Others Claim Course Is Their Greatest Foe and Not Imposing Field.

Canadian Press

Los Angeles, Jan. 9.—The Riviera Country Club course, which to-morrow will resound with the tramping feet of 129 chosen golfers as they inaugurate a three-day trek seeking fortune and fame, to-day in quiet desertion, clung to the secret of the outcome of the fifth annual Los Angeles $10,000 open tournament.

The trail which will lead to a $3,500 prize for the winner, consists of seventy-two holes over the rugged, stubborn 71 par layout; a journey of 6,910 yards for eighteen holes. A round of eighteen holes will mark each of the opening two days, with the fifty survivors and ties permitted to continue their quest in thirty-six holes of concluding play Sunday.

Eighty-eight players yesterday earned the right to compete in the tournament with a list of forty-three exempt, aware that the victor's spoils will be collected by the contender who can consistently shatter par.

DIFFICULT COURSE

To turn in sub-par scores on the difficult course with consistency will be something of a feat in view of the fact that Macdonald Smith, defending champion from Long Island, N.Y., was one over perfect figures, despite the fact that he led Tommy Armour of Detroit by six strokes.

Smith turned even par on his first two rounds, managed to score a 70 on the third, only to finish with a 73. The runner-up after shooting 68 and 67 saw the treacherous course finally break his winning stride. His strokes totalled 76 and 80 for the last two eighteen.

Horton Smith, the Missouri youth, Walter Hagen, British open champion; Leo Diegel, United States professional titleholder, and the others of the imposing starting array have let it be known that their greatest foe in the meeting is not the field, but the course.

Situated as it is in the Santa Monica canyon, which extends to the lashing waters of the Pacific the Riviera has earned the name of being troublesome, but also because of the rugged atmospheric condition—an ocean wind which sweeps through the valley to make the playing conditions of the course different with each new day.

Three special concerts at the Empress Hotel this season January 23, March 28, April 17.

Bobby Jones On Golf

THE IMPORTANCE OF ADAPTING THE STANCE TO THE SWING

The average golfer, when he is going out for length, to add those few additional yards to his normal drive, cannot resist an impulse to spread his feet just a bit farther apart. It is natural, of course, to feel that a firmer more fixed stance is necessary in order to brace oneself against the effect of the extra exertion, and in order to make sure that the footing is solid the ambitious one will invariably work his feet into the ground as though he were getting set to lift a piano. He thinks he is getting set to hit harder but he is, in reality, beating himself at the start.

The most tremendous span in golf is that accomplished by Major Charles O. Hazlet, the British Walker Cup player. Once while playing with the major I made an attempt to take the exact stance which he had employed for a drive. By great effort I could make my legs cover the span, but once in the position I had no earthly chance of hitting a golf shot. Certainly if a wide stance were an aid in getting distance Major Hazlet would be an astonishing long driver. He is about as firmly fixed to the earth as one could possibly be, yet while he is a very straight driver and a fine player he is far from being an exceptionally long hitter. His forte is rather his ability with his short, almost pivotal swing to hit the ball time and time again down the middle of the course. Major Hazlet, of course, elected to employ a wide stance because for him the advantage gained by improved control more than offset the length which he was forced to sacrifice. That is a far different case from that of the player who alters his accustomed stance in order to accomplish something which he cannot accomplish in that way.

MANY SOURCES
There are several sources of power in the ordinary golf stroke. The arms, wrists, shoulders and hips all contribute toward the aggregate force which should be exploded exactly behind the ball. The ideal, of course, is a proper balance among all these factors which will allow each to contribute as much power as possible without disturbing the accuracy of the stroke. Anything which causes a loss of or an impairment of the efficiency of any one of these factors will cause a loss of power in the entire stroke.

A stance as extreme as Major Hazlet's practically destroys the value of his hips as a contributor to distance. With the feet spread wide apart the lower part of the body is almost completely fixed, and even the shoulder motion is made more difficult. The result is brought about, though in lesser degree, by any increase which the player may make over his normal span.

No little comment has been made about my stance, because my feet are so close together. In a way this seems a rather dangerous method, because it affords only a very narrow base upon which the swing may function, and may, therefore, lead to loss of balance. But I think there are various considerations which justify my narrow stance in my own case. In the first place I am short and rather fat and my centre of gravity is low by reason of my build. My feet are ample and set a firm hold on the ground. This latter may be of more importance than one would think. I have observed that everyone who has had any success at golf has had large

"Red" Horner

—By Jimmy Thompson

THE SORREL-TOPPED PUCK CHASER FOR CONNIE SMYTHE WHO HAS BECOME A POPULAR FAVORITE OF HOCKEY FANS

Sorrel-topped athletes have a colorful appeal all their own. The red head generally denotes the aggressive temperament and it is a fact that the red heads of sport are usually stellar performers.

National League hockey has quite a number of these—"Red" Dutton, turbulent defence player of Montreal Maroons, who last season was up among the leaders in accumulating penalties; "Rusty" Hughes, defence player of the Detroit Cougars, credited with knocking out a player with a punch in a minor league last season; and Toronto is enthused over "Red" Horner, the big youngster who is doing fine work on the Leaf defence. Horner is a big, sturdy lad, fearless, aggressive and developing into a real star.

Reginald Horner, which is Red's real name, although born in Linden, Ont., is a Toronto boy in the true sense of the word, having lived in the Queen City since his earliest childhood.

In November, 1926, Red had a short trial with Toronto Canoe Club but was waved aside. He then tried his lot with Marlboro, where he became a fixture after ten minutes' practice. After a few weeks' practice he made himself solid with Torontonians, when being made the goal by the entire youth bay team he forgot his inexperience and gave the Northern Club a lesson in body-checking. Marlboro won the game, but Red won himself the respect of every fan in attendance at the game.

In his third year with Marlboro, Horner's strenuous checking earned him a lot of unavoidable penalties and rather than have him change his style, the Leafs signed him to fill the vacancy caused by Jack Arbour's departure. Red's pleasing disposition, coupled with his ability to go through the hardest games without losing his smile, has made him a favorite in Toronto.

Horner is a mighty fine baseball player and one of Toronto's best softballers, having been a big gun on Marlboro Ontario Championship Club in 1928.

OLYMPIC GOALIE IS NOW BADMINTON STAR

By JACK PURCELL
Canadian Badminton Singles Champion

A number of the leading players have this year decided to give up badminton singles and their places in singles ranks will have to be filled by the younger players who are coming along. The singles game has become to be such a strenuous pastime that unless one is in good physical condition he makes a great mistake taking part in any serious singles playing.

Practically every muscle in the body comes in for a lot of severe exercising in a badminton match, and there is so much sudden starting and stopping that it is a strain on the body's generating department is subjected to considerable strain and wear, especially when the two players are evenly matched and long rallies are the order of the day. I think there are a great feet and hands, the one to hold the ground and the other to hold the club. That much makes the narrow stance possible for me; my manner of hitting the ball makes it necessary. The one thing I must have in playing almost every shot, especially the long ones, is a free turn in my hips, and as I am more than ordinarily broad in the beam, I cannot afford any restriction in that region. With my feet extended well apart I find free hip action practically impossible.

ADVANTAGES TO BOTH

There are advantages peculiar to both the wide and the narrow stance. In the narrow stance, enables the player to impart considerable acceleration to the clubhead by his body action alone. This style is essentially a free-hitting type and productive of greater length with equal or less exertion. At the same time it would appear logical that the wider stance with the shorter swing would be the more accurate.

many players to-day playing competitive singles who should not be doing so. Enough exercise for the most athletically inclined can be derived from badminton doubles and players who have passed the thirty-five year mark are only doing their constitutions harm by endeavoring to keep up their singles game. Singles titles should most certainly be left for decision among the younger players.

A doubles team for which I predict a good season is one from the Ottawa Badminton Club made up of Bill Stewart and Jack Cameron. Stewart, one of Canada's finest doubles players and an experienced veteran, took Cameron under his wing a couple of years ago, and the former Granite Olympic goalie has come ahead so rapidly that he is a decided threat in every tournament in which he competes. A pair of eyes developed by several years' experience in the hockey nets has enabled Cameron to quickly develop a strong defence, while his heavy hitting offensive work is good. Bill Stewart has been a colorful figure on the courts for many years, and has held many major titles. His aggressive playing is well-known to followers of the game in every part of Canada.

from watching the methods of others, attention should be called to the importance of first trying to work out the reasons why the pattern after which they may choose to copy uses the methods he does. A tall slender player, no matter of what length his swing happens to be, cannot expect to get a good result with his feet placed close together as mine are. His feet must be well apart to furnish anchorage. Similarly, a person who employs a short punching swing, mostly arm and shoulder action, can hardly expect to establish his balance firmly and keep it so on a narrow stance.

The think to remember is that what is desired is a perfect balance on the ground, and not that the feet should be rooted to the turf. The motion of the golf stroke should flow smoothly backward and forward where there is no necessity for strong arm methods or for any weight lifting exercises. ## AN OLD TIMER'S SCRAP BOOK BY TIM MCGRATH

ABOUT GUNBOAT SMITH, AND THE TIME HE WAS PAID A NICKEL FOR A FIGHT

GUNBOAT SMITH, the old-time light-heavyweight, is a runner on Wall Street these days, the boys tell me, and very well liked by all he comes in contact with.

I guess the recent slump reminded him of the fight days—and he saw so many speculators take it on the chin.

And I wonder, when he saw some of the suckers getting down to small money, if he recalled the time he was paid off with a nickel for a fight with "Mexican Pete" Everett.

The "Gooner" was but recently out of the navy, and was being managed by the late Harry Foley, who also handled Jess Willard. Smith was clambering out of the prelin class then, and instead of $50 for this spot on the programme, Promoter Teddy Wolff—and himself a good-wetter in his day—offered $100 for Gunboat's services.

A COUPLE of days later, Smith appeared before Wolff with a statement that he was being underpaid. He demanded $200. As the Willie Mitchell-Wolfgang fight was scheduled for the afternoon following Wolff's four-round show, Wolff had to come through. And later, Smith, according to the story, raised the ante to $300.

Wolff, after some arguing, said he'd pay it provided Smith would post a forfeit of $250 that he wouldn't raise the ante again.

Smith agreed to do so.

The fight night was "one of those nights." Interest in the Wolfgang-Mitchell fight, with the world's lightweight championship at stake, was high, and only a slim crowd seemed to remember that Teddy Wolff was staging a card of four-round battles and buy tickets for it.

Wolff, disgusted, recalled what he agreed to pay Smith. Then an idea smote him. The Gunboat-Mexican Pete scrap was but one of several good bouts arranged for the evening.

SAY, he said to the club physician, "I'm pretty sure you'll find when you examine the fighters, that Mexican Pete has a bad heart—noisy valve at least, see?—and maybe we'd better not take a chance on letting him box."

The doctor dutifully found Pete had two leaky valves.

When the fight was definitely off, Smith demanded the $300. Wolff returned the forfeit money, but refused to pay any more, declaring Smith had virtually forced him into raising the ante.

Foley, Smith's manager, came around the following day, in a diplomatic plea for at least training expenses. They argued. Finally, Wolff said: "I'll give him a nickel; that's all."

He dug down and brought up a nickel. Foley, who had a sense of humor, accepted it, and took it back to the Gunner.

And Gunboat, who could smile even in the face of disappointment, went further. He took the nickel to Sol Levison's glove factory, had it changed into pennies, and gave Foley two cents as his managerial "cut" of the purse.

Levison, who for years made the gloves used in world title matches, had the nickel on display for years.

No Gunboat Smith didn't have to worry about the Wall Street bulls and bears. He learned about finance from Wolff.

THREE GAMES AT WEST ROAD

Foresters, Motor Mechanics and Hudson's Bay Will Meet Suburban Hoopsters

Basketball activities at West Road will resume to-morrow night with three games at the suburban hall. With holidays and cup games on, the West Road players have had no time for exhibition contests, but the semi-weekly contests are to be started again. The games to-morrow are: West Road Girls vs. Hudson's Bay; West Road Second Team vs. the Motor Mechanics; West Road Seniors vs. the Foresters.

West Road girls are favorites to take Friday's contest, although the departmentals have been gradually improving since their entrance into the league at the beginning of the season.

Motor Mechanics will have a real job on their hands when they meet the West Road team, who are a heavy scoring aggregation on their own floor.

Plenty of scoring should feature the senior contest, which will bring together the Foresters and West Road Seniors. This home team have only been handed one defeat in their hall this year. The Foresters are young and are moving at a fast pace in the "C" division of the city league. A recent acquisition is Gordie Craig, who played with St. Andrew's and later with the Canadian Scottish intermediates.

The line-ups of the teams will be as follows:

West Road Girls—Mary Peden, May Peden, B. Handy, B. Armstrong and E. Mathews.

Hudson's Bay Girls—P. Butt, Elsie Mathews.

West Road Seniors—A. Bickford, S. Bickford, J. Lannon, T. Peden, W. Sluggs and Lannon.

Motor Mechanics—R. Graves, C. Jones, A. Wood, C. Hill, Williams and Rawlinson.

Foresters—Clarke, Addie, Cann, Craig, Moir, Fennell, Reynolds, Doherty and Irving.

West Road Seniors—M. Lannon, G. Lannon, C. Sluggs, Claude Sluggs and Andrews.

Handicaps Taken By Findlay, Robertson And Phyllis Hodgson

Carrying off first honors in the one-hundred and one-yard handicaps, Phyllis Hodgson led the swimmers in the V.A.S.C.'s weekly handicaps held at the Crystal Garden last night. In the men's section, Bill Findlay and Bill Robertson finished first in the 100 and fifty-yard events respectively. Results of the races follow:

100 Yards, handicap, men—1. Bill Findlay, 2. Bill Robertson, 3. Ted Slingsby, Time, 29.

Yachtsmen Meet Here Saturday At Annual Dinner

On Saturday night the annual dinner and meeting of the Victoria Yacht Club will be held in one of the private dining-rooms of the Empress Hotel.

The dinner, which will be followed by the business session, will commence at 6 o'clock. Delegates will be present from Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle, Tacoma, Bellingham, Portland and Roche Harbor.

Those representing the Royal Victoria Yacht Club will be Commodore J. F. Dick, F. J. O'Reilly and W. E. Adams, the latter being a member of the governing council.

With such a score, The Times had little difficulty in taking three straight from the Elks. Sid Jenkins was high individual game man with 209.

In the Commercial tenpin fixture, Royal Arcanum took three straight from The Colonist Want Ads. The winners rolled consistently in the first two games, but just managed to capture the third by a single point.

Scores follow:

400 CANARIES ARRIVE FROM EUROPE

Four hundred trained canaries recently trilled their way across the Atlantic from Hamburg, Germany, to a Toronto firm. The little birds made the long trip in individual wooden cages, each cage having a small feed box and a drinking cup.

As the cages were unpacked and the canaries saw the light of day, they burst into a cheery chorus of song, showing no ill effects from their long journey.

All these canaries are the roller type, having the peculiar rolling trill so popular with Canadian bird lovers and which gives delight in thousands of Canadian homes.

Problems Of Basketball Varied

Anyone who thinks basketball coaching is a cinch compared to football tutoring should study the principles of defence inherent with each sport. Football coaches generally followed the same principles in lining up their players. Basketball mentors can't agree. Their problems are much more varied. It wasn't so a decade ago. Then attack centred upon a drive for a short shot. To-day they shoot from anywhere, as witness Murphy's basket from mid-court at the start of the last Purdue-Wisconsin game.

Thus it is not surprising to find Stanford playing a somewhat different zone defense than other teams in the same state. Each of its five men beat it to the imaginary squares outlined in the sketch when they loose the ball, the two guards forming in a second line nearer the basket. The move of the first man down on attack determines the defense. If he breaks down as does No. 1 in the diagram, the guards shift in their zones to meet him, and the forward on the side thus vacated drops back to form a three-man zone defense. The centre and other forward play a man-to-man defense.

THRILLING FILM
AT COLUMBIA

Carol Lombard, who has a featured role in William Boyd's new feature picture, "High Voltage," had her film career halted in its incipency by an automobile accident that confined her to her bed for six months. Incidentally, Phillips Smalley, who is also seen in "High Voltage," had a similar automobile accident in Brooklyn many years ago which resulted in his neck being broken. Although he does not allow it to interfere with his screen work, Smalley's vertebrae is cracked. "High Voltage" is being shown at the Columbia Theatre today.

NANCY CARROLL AND JACK OAKIE
PLAY IN "SWEETIE"

"Sweetie," an hilarious extravaganza of campus life appears on the talking screen at the Dominion Theatre this week.

Nancy Carroll, petite little red-haired star of the Paramount studios, who is rated by the film-going public as second only to Clara Bow in popularity, plays the title role in the production.

Her leading man is Stanley Smith, lately seen and heard in "The Sophomore."

Jack Oakie, the wise-cracking "fresh guy" comic of "Fast Company" and many other, Helen Kane, baby-faced singer who "boop-booped" her way to national fame overnight on phonograph and radio, and William Austin, beloved English comic actor of silent and talking films, are cast in support of Miss Carroll in singing, dancing and comedy roles.

For talking pictures and color photography have made it possible for people in the most remote parts of the earth to see talent and gorgeous settings such as appear in the Zigzag Polies or the Polies Bergered, quite as easily as the New Yorker or the Parisian.

Those who attend Colleen Moore's newest dialogue picture, "Footlights and Fools," which opened to-day for a three-day run at the Capitol Theatre, will see a brilliant revue, presented in Technicolor, with captivating melodies, as well as many of the same actors and actresses who formerly appeared in world-famous extravaganzas.

COMEDY DIALOGUE

FOR "FALL OF EVE"

IS WELL WRITTEN

Frederic and Fanny Hatton, incomparable writing team of screen and stage, wrote the dialogue for "The Fall of Eve," the Columbia 100 per cent dialogue production at the Playhouse Theatre to-day, with Patsy Ruth Miller, Ford Sterling, Gertrude Astor and Arthur Rankin. The Hattons, who are authors of such stage successes as "The Great Lover," "Upstairs and Downstairs" and "Lombardi Limited," are ideally suited to the writing of comedy dialogue.

First United Young People's Concert, featuring Miss Hildreth Lennox, noted Canadian entertainer, Monday, January 13, in the church hall, 8 p.m. Tickets 35c.

BETTY COMPSON IN GORGEOUS ROLE AT
COLISEUM THEATRE

Beautiful Betty Compson in the sophisticated role of a film of Paris in the drawing card at the Coliseum Theatre, where her latest starring picture, "Woman to Woman," is the feature screen attraction. So far this week the picture has undoubtedly proved popular with large audiences who have seen it, and before the end of the week is destined to attract many more people. In addition to this splendid feature, a comedy entitled "Midnight Daddies" is also showing at the Coliseum this week and is providing plenty of fun and merriment for the audiences.

The main picture attraction is a story of Paris during the war. The eternal love triangle concerning the love of two women for the one man provides the main plot, which is well handled by the special cast chosen, headed, of course, by Miss Compson. This beautiful actress, one of the loveliest ever to grace the screen, has one of her best roles and appears in several gorgeous costumes of silks and furs and jewels.

The choruses are particularly fine and several tuneful and popular numbers are splendidly reproduced over the talking machine.

TOBY LEITCH AND HIS PLAYERS ARE
SUCCESS AT VARIETY

"The Family Goat," a whirlwind three-act comedy, presented by the Toby Leitch Players with an all-star cast, is an outstanding hit at the Variety Theatre this week.

Every minute of this brilliant farce comedy is enlivened with a laugh and enthusiastic audiences are greeting it nightly. Leone Weber presents a most artistic interpretation of the role of the Cinderella of the family whose wit and beauty triumph in the end. Toby Leitch, himself, is magnificent in the role of the father, and his unique powers as a comedian and artist are revealed to great advantage. A fine love story distinguishes the plot which moves with all the splendid rapidity of a thoroughly modern play presented by a really talented company. Altogether, "The Family Goat" is an eminently delightful play for those who love the legitimate theatre at its best.

IMPORTED HONEY
CAMOUFLAGED AS LOCAL, IS CHARGE

Island Beekeepers Also Protest Tins Without Origin Labels

Eastern Canadian honey is being imported into British Columbia and sold here as local honey and under the label of British Columbia honey, according to charges made at yesterday afternoon's session of the Vancouver Island Division of the British Columbia Honey Producers Association.

Beekeepers also brought to the attention of the Department of Agriculture charges that eastern honey was being sold locally with the tin bearing the label of a Vancouver firm, but not specifying the place of origin.

J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, said that production of honey was growing rapidly and that there was more unity at present among beekeepers than at any time in the past. He announced that W. J. Sheppard had come back to the department as provincial apiarist.

Mr. Sheppard appeared before the meeting and demonstrated a new "middle entrance hive."

T. H. Maynard, who organized the beekeepers in connection with the last two exhibitions at the Willows, spoke on island affairs and was tendered a special vote of thanks.

To supply the need of an organ for the beehive here, it was decided to get in touch with Farm and Home in Vancouver, with the recommendation to the central committee that the Island Division be permitted to make an arrangement with that journal.

Demand for comb honey far exceeding the present supply was reported at the Victoria Public Market.

The next meeting was set for the first week in July.

O. B. Ormond was elected president for 1930. Other officers elected were: Vice-president, W. L. Ferrier; secretary, Mrs. F. A. Greenwood; directors, J. A. McIntyre, Albert; Dawson Thomas, Cowichan; F. A. Greenwood, Sooke; W. J. Sheppard, Victoria; W. Ford, Combs; W. L. Ferrier, Marigold; C. W. Newell, Saanich; M. L. H. McQueen, Keating; H. SAANICH
BOARD IS GRILLED

Trustees Kept Busy Answering Questions From Large Audience

Criticism Levelled at School Building Proposals By McKenzie Avenue Meeting

Ward Four ratepayers of Saanich turned out in strong force last night at McKenzie Avenue School to hear the School Board explain the proposed building programme and the reasons why the ratepayers were asked to vote nearly $125,000 for a high school and other purposes.

The trustees were asked to precede their prepared arguments with replies to a list of prepared questions. They explained the change in policy which had resulted in the pre-emption of Tolmie School had been compelled by failure to induce the council to submit a last by-law last summer.

A question as to the cost of the addition to Tolmie, expected to be around $45,000, made comparison with the new Oak Bay High School of fourteen rooms, costing about $80,000. The trustees replied that the stated Oak Bay building cost was not inclusive of plumbing, heating, furnishing, or site.

A question regarding the proposal to create a small high school at Keating was answered by Trustee Jeune, who believed the innovation justified. The cost of operation would not be unduly high, the trustees believed, while the operation of the high school would result in more rural children taking advanced classes.

TOLMIE GROUNDS
Trustee Tones answered a question regarding the grounds available at Tolmie High School, stating ample adjoining property was at the disposal of the board at reasonable prices. A tract of four acres nearby was proposed to be purchased for the new graded school, and would provide playing grounds for the high school.

Trustee Hobbs replied to a question regarding the necessity of additions to Cloverdale and Tullium Schools if a new high school were built, stating that the primary schools would have to be enlarged in any event.

FIGURES DISAGREE
Trustee Jeune provided W. H. Nix with attendance figures at urban schools for recent years, the numbers given being challenged by F. F. Beckett as not in agreement with an official statement compiled by the School Board at the request of the Municipal Council.

Mrs. J. M. Beckett, an ex-trustee, was informed by Trustee Jeune that Craigflower School was not filled to capacity, while children living near Craigflower were attending the overcrowded Tullium School. The trustee said this condition was caused by necessity to provide tuition in eight grades.

POLICY SOUGHT
The final clause of the questionnaire was as follows: "It is accepted that the ratepayers generally see the necessity for a high school with adequate accommodation and adequate grounds. In the event of the present by-law being defeated would the Trustees immediately submit a by-law for the purpose of building a high school centrally situated, with adequate room for expansion?"

Trustee Hobbs replied, stating he would not be a member of the School Board next year, but he was confident the trustees would ask the council for funds.

Mr. Nix protested that the present plans of the board were too expensive, compared with the location of a new high school building.

Mr. Beckett remarked that the temporary resort of the board, devised to meet an emergency, was now the permanent policy of the School Board. W. J. Lynn objected to a high school located on less than ten acres of playing grounds. "Why not select a site and give the people a say on it? Why not build a high school which will be a credit to Saanich in fifteen years?" he protested. "If the city boundary were extended half a mile Saanich would have no high school," Mr. Lynn said in criticism of enlargement of Tolmie School.

Trustee Jeune and Hobbs stated the board had no money with which to buy a site and that the free sites offered by the council were not satisfactory.

Trustee Tones said he had personally favored use of the Health Centre property as a high school site, but the disadvantage of compelling all students to travel by bus had been a serious objection.

PLEASED WITH PLAN
He had been pleased when Trustee Jeune first advanced the proposal to convert Tolmie School, and passing months had more satisfied him with the solution of the problem.

Trustee Hobbs aroused protest when he admitted that the board had arrived at the conclusion that the best solution of the problem was to make permanent the temporary arrangement required to cater to first-year high school students. Mr. Nix remarked: "Exactly that is your policy, and that is exactly what we do not want you to do. If you re-submit to the council the proposals earlier rejected, you would now get action."

REEVE DEFENDS COUNCIL
Reeve Crouch said that, when the School Board asked the Council for $75,000 last summer, they knew the Council had no money and the estimates had been closely examined or a by-law to the ratepayers, if approved, would be too late to have a building ready in September and the council had urged temporary provisions be organized.

The sites placed at the disposal of the trustees by the council had not been pressed while they offered. One property had been superior to a nearby site the board had considered purchasing.

The delay by the council in granting $50,000 for plans had been immaterial, as the board had secured the plans without the vote sought. Had the lack of money for plans affected the board's proposals materially, the scheme before the ratepayers could not be the proper course, and therefore the Reeve objected to any appearance of onus on the shoulders of the council.

DEATH

HALL—There passed away Tuesday, January 8, at St. Joseph's Hospital, after a short illness, Mrs. Sophia Louisa Hall. The late Mrs. Hall was born in London, England, fifty-three years ago. She has resided in this city for the past seven years. She is survived by her husband, Henry Edward Hall, and three sons at the family residence, 1102 Palmer Road, Lake Hill.

Funeral service will be held Friday afternoon, January 10, at 2:30 o'clock, from the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home, corner Quadra and Broughton Streets. Rev. F. A. Ramsey will officiate and interment will be made in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Horoscope

FRIDAY, JANUARY 10, 1930

According to astrology the early part of this day should be most fortunate. Benefic aspects dominate.

In the morning women should be most active. The rule is favorable to public as well as domestic interests.

Clubs, conducted by women, are well directed while this rule prevails, but changes in their aims and policies are foretold.

Love affairs should flourish while this configuration prevails and assessments entered into under this way are supposed to be lucky.

Many weddings will mark the new year, which also will show a shocking record of divorce cases.

The ceers prophesy that marriage is to be a subject of widespread discussion that reveals a judicial and helpful spirit.

In the future the partnership called marriage is to be entered with due regard to the financial and economic phase. It is forecast, so that the family may be wisely safeguarded.

This is read as an auspicious day for seeking employment of any sort and should assure agreement for adequate salaries.

It is not a favorable way for farms and farming. Heavy storms may cause losses.

Industry may be more or less affected at this time by a strike in of manufacturers in certain lines, astrologers foretell, but a period of preparation for expansion is intervening.

The evening is read as not favorable to first meetings with strangers of opposite sex. Men are likely to be critical.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the sign of a happy day, which may bring friendships will have an influence.

Children born on this day probably will have the power of leadership. The subjects of this sign are often extremely artistic and fond of pleasure.

RELIEF WORK DECLARED TASK FOR PROVINCES

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—The matter of unemployment relief is one that comes exclusively within the jurisdiction of the provinces and municipalities and is not a responsibility of the Federal Government, declared Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, in an interview here yesterday.

The Minister quoted a paragraph from a Toronto newspaper of 1928 which attributed to Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, the statement that unemployment relief was a responsibility of the municipalities.

SINCE GREAT WAR

Following the interview, Mr. Heenan issued a statement based on answers to communications he had received from a number of organizations throughout the country. The statement read as follows:

"I have to point out that unemployment relief is primarily a municipal and provincial matter. In fact the participation of the Dominion Government in relief work due to unemployment conditions was not undertaken until the days during the post-war depression, which suggested Canada to a very serious condition of unemployment and rather widespread distress prevailed throughout the country and large numbers were exposed to keen suffering. It was recognized that this condition was due in a large measure to the war and because of this the Dominion Government then assumed part of the responsibility. Such assistance as had been given from the Federal Treasury had its justification to meet conditions arising out of the war. These two principles have been enunciated in each Federal order-in-council which provided assistance for unemployment relief."

"In November, 1927, at a Dominion Provincial conference which was attended by the several provincial Premiers, among other things the matter of the Dominion Government participating in unemployment relief measures was discussed, and it was made clear by the representatives of the various provincial governments that they did not wish the Dominion Government to continue this practice."

"I desire also to call attention that during the last two sessions of Parliament the House of Commons committee on international relations has devoted considerable attention to the subject of unemployment insurance. The report of this committee of the House of Commons pointed out the subject of unemployment insurance was one which came wholly within the jurisdiction of the provinces."

NEW WORKS

"I may point out that the Federal Government now is carrying on work on some millions of dollars of contracts and is letting other contracts amounting to many more millions of dollars which will contribute to no small extent toward providing work during the winter."

COOLIDGE ON AIR TO-NIGHT

Calvin Coolidge will address the public by radio to-night for the first time since he said good-bye to them from the rear platform of his train just before it left Washington on March 4 last.

He will speak from St. Petersburg, Fla., and will be heard over KOMO at 6.30 o'clock. The occasion will be his appearance as guest of honor at a banquet given by the New York Life Insurance Company in the Hotel Vinoy Park.

His address will be on "The Economics of Life Insurance," Mr. Coolidge will be introduced by Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the New York Life Insurance Company.

Boy Who Looked Ahead Made a Great Fortune

William Nichols never did anything without thinking it over carefully first. Even when he was a very small boy he thought ahead more than most boys.

When he was a schoolboy, and other boys talked about what they meant to be when they grew up, he always said he hadn't made up his mind. He was a boy who decided on something one day and something else the next.

He was interested in chemistry. Lots of other boys he liked to do "experiments." He thought that perhaps it would be nice to be a commercial chemist, manufacturing chemical supplies.

So, because he was a boy who went about things according to plan, he began reading books about chemistry, and asking questions of every one he knew who might tell him something about the business.

They tried to discourage him. One friend of his father's said, "Why, you don't want to go and get a good education, and then be a manufacturer of chemicals. The people in the business aren't educated people."

William Nichols thought this over. But, instead of discouraging him, it helped him make up his mind. "If the people in the business aren't clever," he said, "there will be that much more chance for me!"

From that time on, he worked with the one idea of becoming a chemist. He founded the Great General Chemical Company, employing tens of thousands of men. He not only made millions of dollars, but won world-wide fame as a chemist. He was born in Brooklyn, New York, January 9, 1832.

COMES TO PLAN SETTINGS FOR SEA FESTIVAL

C. B. Cox to Arrange for Musical Event Which Opens on January 15

Charles Beverley Cox and his wife, Aileen Grever Cox, arrived here today from Vancouver to start final preparations for the Sea Music Festival which will open at the Empress Hotel on January 15. The whole stage management of the affair has been placed by the C.B. in the hands of Mr. Cox. Major Bullock-Webster, who has charge of some of the local details of the festival, went into conference with Mr. Cox immediately upon his arrival.

A. E. Munn, former M.P.P. for Lillooet, and one of the biggest logging operators in the Province, has come over from Vancouver on business. He is expected to be under the Provincial Police, the same as the other parts of Vancouver Island? Is there another place in the Empire where there are six different police departments within a radius of two and a half miles? We certainly need something done, so let us elect good business men for our councillors and police commissioners.

FORWARD.

NOTE OF THANKS

To the Editor:—In our note of thanks for the kindnesses to the men in the Fleming ward which you inserted for us during the Christmas week inadvertently we omitted to mention the Britannia branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L.

On behalf of the men I hasten to correct the oversight and express our regret.

The Britannia branch I would mention has throughout the year been one of our most constant benefactors and visitors.

I trust the branch will accept this apology for the unfortunate omission.

NEW BOARD IN GREAT BRITAIN MAY BUY WHEAT

Plan MacDonald Discussed Revived By Coming Pool Leaders' Visit

Winnipeg, Jan. 9.—Representatives of the Canadian Wheat Pool will leave Winnipeg early next week for London, where they will confer with members of the British Government. This was announced last night by A. J. McIntyre, secretary of the Pool, who was in the city for the conference.

The meeting was arranged at the instigation of Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment and Labour, who visited Winnipeg last September and met Pool officials.

Wheat pool representatives at the London conference will be A. J. McIntyre, secretary of the Pool, D. R. McIntyre, eastern sales manager, and W. A. McLeod, director of education and publicity for the Pool. The party may leave here next Sunday or Monday.

UNIFORM FLOW

Securing of a more uniform flow of outward and return cargoes from Canada and the United Kingdom which was given as Mr. Thomas's main purpose on his Canadian visit last summer, is likely to be made a topic of discussion between the Dominion grain officials and British Government officials, last night's Pool announcement indicated.

Mr. Thomas made various suggestions for securing a more even and regular movement of Canadian wheat to British ports when he conferred with Pool officials here, it was mentioned.

BOARD PLAN

On the prairies a feeling has existed for some time that some British Government move to buy Canadian wheat on a large scale was in the offing. As opposition leader in Britain, Right Hon. Ramsay MacDonald met Pool officials informally at Winnipeg in October, 1928. He is known to have stated the Labor Party favored creation of a buying body to stabilize prices of the chief imported foods, including wheat.

Last September, Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment in the British Government, met in two days' sessions with Pool representatives. He drew particular attention to the desirability of securing an even flow of outward and return cargoes between Canada and Britain. Since then dispatches from London have indicated Mr. Thomas has considered at least two plans with regard to wheat shipments.

ELEVATOR DISCUSSION

Establishment of elevators in Britain for storage of wheat before sale was mentioned as one suggested means to effect a regular flow of wheat to the other side. The idea, however, failed to gain approval of Canadian wheat handlers, who believed such an arrangement would place too great a leverage in the hands of British buyers.

Canadian wheat men prefer to retain their grain in the Dominion until its sale is assured.

In the opinion of Canadian grain men, Mr. Thomas's alternative plan is believed to be establishment of a government purchase board to contract for Canadian wheat over long terms. This suggestion is considered more likely to attain successful fruition.

TO FIX PRICE

Western observers are recalling the expressions of Mr. MacDonald during his meeting with Pool men fifteen months ago. In the case of wheat the Labor leader was quoted as saying the buying board favored by the party would make wheat a commodity of probable world production for three or five years ahead. On that estimate it would figure an average world price for the same period and on the same basis would fix a selling price to millers.

It is not at all certain that the position of Mr. MacDonald as Premier of Great Britain would be unaltered at the present. But, undoubtedly, an organization such as he outlined in Winnipeg would seem to be in accord with the expressed policy of the Pool. On many occasions, pool officials have stated their aim is not exorbitant prices, but fair average prices over long periods without the seasonal fluctuations which increase the hazards of farming.

Taking advantage of their visit to England, the Canadian Pool representatives will meet Henry J. May, secretary, and Sir Thomas Allen, director of the International Co-operative Alliance, in connection with a proposed conference of producers and consumers' co-operative organizations to be held next spring.

IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED

To the Editor:—This is the time for Equilmalt citizens to think and act to meet the 1930 council. Several public questions need to be attended to. Are we still to have our streets disfigured by ugly garages? Most of these buildings are built near the sidewalks and the writer on several occasions has seen the doors open and blocking the sidewalks.

We have had some improvements the last few years, but we still need more. For instance, Equilmalt Road, our main street, has only one sidewalk, and visitors wonder why the street has not been modernized. Then we come to the Police Department. Why cannot Equilmalt be under the Provincial Police, the same as the other parts of Vancouver Island? Is there another place in the Empire where there are six different police departments within a radius of two and a half miles? We certainly need something done, so let us elect good business men for our councillors and police commissioners.

FORWARD.

NOTE OF THANKS

To the Editor:—In our note of thanks for the kindnesses to the men in the Fleming ward which you inserted for us during the Christmas week inadvertently we omitted to mention the Britannia branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L.

On behalf of the men I hasten to correct the oversight and express our regret.

The Britannia branch I would mention has throughout the year been one of our most constant benefactors and visitors.

I trust the branch will accept this apology for the unfortunate omission.

F. L. STEPHENSON.

New Oil Wells Give Big Flow

Christy Hall & Co. to-day received the following report from their New York connection:

"Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company, a Cities Service subsidiary, brought in three additional wells in the Oklahoma City field yesterday. Jennings No. 1 produced at the rate of 17,500 barrels a day, Gasfield No. 1 at the rate of 15,000 barrels a day, and Trosper Park No. 11 at the rate of 10,000 barrels a day."

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, Jan. 9.—Wheat: Weakness in Liverpool and a continued lack of export business in any material quantity, led to further liquidation and short selling of wheat during the first period this morning which led to a break in prices of almost 2 cents. On this decline, selling pressure let up and with some absorption by commission houses combined with some short covering the market was able to recover part of the earlier loss, but there was no real support and the full upturns were very difficult to hold.

This market was even weaker than Chicago and the Winnipeg premium of May wheat over Chicago May sank to 8 1/2 cents, as compared with 11 cents a few days ago. Direct exporters were working a few loads overnight, but the total volume was not believed to be over 100,000 bushels, unless the price of some business there was not reported, and seaboard reported only a small business.

Broomhall reported a somewhat better demand abroad yesterday for better wheat than Russia not offering any more wheat. Demand for cash wheat locally continues quiet and odd cars are coming out which are being taken by terminal interests. Unchanged spreads. Large holders, apparently, are satisfied to await developments, so that offerings are light. Liverpool closed very weak. Export business is badly needed in volume if these levels are to be held.

Coarse grains—These markets continue to follow the trend of when being lower during the first half of the day and firming up later, although the full losses were not recovered. Trade volume very light with very little doing in cash grain.

Flax—Continued featureless, a little buying of July against sales of May. Crushing demand very slow.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Ingratitude—The Greatest Crime in the World.
Shall Inheritance of Adopted Children Be Used
For Their Maintenance?—Greatest Thing in Life

DEAR MISS DIX—I notice that in so many of the letters that people write to you they complain bitterly of their misfortune, yet these very letters contain the answer to their complaints, for they tell of good things in their lives that they entirely overlook. What a pity they can't use a little Pollyanna stuff on their lives and try to be glad instead of being sour! Happiness consists in appreciating what we have, and we all have enough to make us happy if we only thought so.
A DAILY READER.

Answer—Right you are, and I often think that the greatest and the commonest sin in the world is the crime of ingratitude. We howl to high heaven when ill fortune befalls us, but when blessings are showered upon our heads we take them as no more than our due.

Let us have an ache or a pain and we hold up everybody within earshot with a long and detailed account of our sufferings, but we are dumb as an oyster concerning our good health. Let our family relationships be amiable and pleasant and we never as much as say "thank you" to those who minister to our daily welfare, but let us have a little mishap, the disagreeable peculiarities of a member of our household and we consider that the early Christian martyrs had nothing on us.

You rarely hear a man or woman boast of having a good wife, or a good husband, or dutiful children, but most of our shoulders are damp half of the time with the tears that have been shed upon our heads by those with drunken husbands or nagging wives, or who are the parents of wayward children.

As my correspondent says, I get many letters from people who consider themselves utterly miserable, yet whose very letters show that they have so much to be grateful for that they ought to be ashamed of themselves for voicing a single complaint. They are trouble hounds who go out of their way to hunt up something to worry over, and they are as unreasonable as the princess in the fairy story who could not sleep because there was a crumpled rose leaf under her forty mattresses of ease.

I get many letters, for instance, from women who tell me that they are married to good, kind men, who provide them with fine houses and good cars and beautiful clothes, and that they have lovely children and good health and agreeable friends, but they wait out that they are utterly miserable because their husbands don't talk, or don't want to take them out to places of amusement in the evening, or because they have discovered that their hard-worked husbands are not the heroes of their childish dreams, or because their mothers-in-law have to live with them.

And they let the one little thing in their lives that they object to ruin all the balance. They never even give a thought to how lucky they are in being married to men who are kind to them instead of having husbands who beat them, or how fortunate they are that they have husbands who are good providers and who lap them in luxury instead of their having to go out and are buying our home, but we want to do right by the children. Do you think what happiness they have in their children, nor what a consolation prize it is to a woman to have the material things of life, a good home, good food, pretty clothes, a place in society.

And I get letters from men who tell me that they are married to wives who have been faithful helpmates, who are good housekeepers, good mothers, but who have got old and fat and uninteresting, and who bore them to tears, and they complain because their wives haven't kept themselves young and slim and beautiful and full of pep.

And these men don't see what they have to be thankful for in having wives who save their money instead of blowing it in on imported finery, and in having wives who make their homes comfortable, pleasant and agreeable, instead of food instead of wives who are always gadding around and who feed them out of paper bags and tin cans, and even in having wives that they don't have to be jealous of, or worry about entertaining. For an old wife is like an old shoe. She may not be an object of beauty, nor the latest style, nor the last word in smartness, but she is mighty comfortable and easy to get along with. New young wives cost a lot of money and demand a lot of attention, and the man who swaps an old wife for a new frequently regrets his trade.

There is no such thing as perfect happiness in the world. There is no situation in life to which there are not some drawbacks, nor is there any lot in life in which there is not some ameliorating circumstance and in which we cannot find some happiness if we look for it. There is just as much sunshine as rain. Just as much pleasure as pain. And if we would think as much about our blessings as we do about our misfortunes we should be better and cheerier for it.
DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My sister and her husband are both dead. They left two children, who live with us, and these children inherited two houses, neither very valuable. My husband is a hard working man and we are buying our home, but we want to do right by the children. Do you think we should draw on the resources of the estate for the maintenance of the children, or should we struggle on, leaving the revenue of the estate to accumulate for the children until they are of age?
MRS. M. V. D.

Answer—I think it is only fair for the children to pay their way as they go, so far as money is concerned. In the love and affection you and your husband give them you bestow upon them something for which money cannot compensate, but there should be no drain upon your pockets unless it is absolutely necessary.

No woman has a right to force her husband to work to support her family, although many wives seem to think that they have. They rob their husbands ruthlessly to pay their family doctor's bills, to send their younger brothers and sisters through college, and in many a home you will always find some of the wife's relatives gadding in the best bedroom. I know many men who have never been able to get ahead any in the world because the money they might have saved their wives spent on their families.

In this particular case it is more necessary that you should save your husband's money than that the children's money should be saved, because he is getting old, his power of earning is diminishing, while they are young, and when they are grown they will be far more able to work than he will be at that time.
DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Just what is the greatest thing in life?

Answer—Love. The love of man for woman. The love of husbands and wives. The love of parents and children. The love of friend for friend.

This is the greatest thing in life. Those who have love are rich if they have nothing else. Those who neither love nor are beloved are poor though they have everything else in the world.
DOROTHY DIX.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

BY SISTER MARY

Many housekeepers overlook the possibilities in vegetable juice cocktails. The finest hotels and restaurants include them among first course appetizers for luncheon and dinner, and they are most palatable for home use.

As in any appetizer, careful seasoning is essential. Lemon juice or vinegar, sugar, salt, sometimes a mere suspicion of spice, a drop of onion juice, just a hint of pepper, can be added to almost any vegetable flavor with appetizing effect.

Thorough chilling and attractive serving are also imperative. While the cocktail must be perfectly smooth and "drinkable," it need not be of a watery consistency. Blended orange juice has a bit more substance than clear water and is pleasantly smooth with a consistency ideal in a cocktail.

Tomato juice and sauerkraut juice are rather commonly used, but other vegetables can be successfully manipulated. Canned vegetables or fresh ones are equally good and there is no waste or loss of vitamin or mineral content when the juice as well as the solid vegetable is made use of.

Vegetables which are wanted quite dry for dressing for the table offer less difficulty for the cook if she need not cook away every drop of liquid. When the vegetable stock is drained off and used in another meal as a cocktail, nothing is wasted, and the cook can relax her cat-like vigilance of the last few minutes of the cooking period.

The water in which celery is cooked, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, broccoli, carrots, mushrooms or the juice from canned vegetables is made piquant and stimulating by proper seasoning.

Of course, the same vegetable should not appear twice in a meal. Some morning, when stewed fruit or baked apples have been the breakfast fruit, try serving a tomato juice cocktail for the luncheon dinner first course.

La Paz, Bolivia, Jan. 9.—Floods caused by heavy rains yesterday swept the fertile Tembla de Rani region. Farmyards, fields and crops over a wide area were inundated. Three persons disappeared and it was feared they were drowned. The damage to crops and livestock was enormous.

NEW MEASURES TO KEEP ORDER AMONG SAMOANS

Apia, Western Samoa, Jan. 9.—New Zealand officials are taking stern measures to end the turmoil of Samoan natives which culminated December 28 in a fight in which one white constable and eight Samoans were killed and several policemen and more than thirty Samoans were wounded.

Col. S. S. Allen, the Administrator, yesterday ordered the arrest before next Saturday of twenty natives, charged with or convicted of offences as a result of the riot, which was precipitated by the return of Alfred O. Smyth, deported for two years in January, 1928, for interfering with New Zealand's administration of Western Samoa.

In addition, Administrator Allen ordered fifty-eight other natives to appear before him at once at Millinui to explain their part in the rioting. All other Samoans congregated at Apia from other districts were requested to disperse to their homes before Saturday.

Wellington, N.Z., Jan. 9.—Premier Ward yesterday announced a firmer policy of administration in Samoa would be adopted by the New Zealand Government because of recent disorders in that territory.

The cruiser Dunedin, carrying a sea-plane, left Auckland for Samoa to-day. The resistance of the natives has been characterized mainly by refusal to pay taxes, by boycotting of white men's stores and other non-violent methods.

Ex-Service Men Meet Minister On School Aid

A delegation representing various ex-service organizations waited upon Hon. J. Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, yesterday afternoon and conferred with him regarding aid for children of returned men.

The conference was held at the instance of the minister, who afterwards said he had received some very practical suggestions, which would be useful in formulating any plans under consideration.

Calculation Contest Is Won By S. T. Sehl

S. T. Sehl, 1178 Oscar Street, won the Victor Radio in the Diggon's Ltd. and T. N. Hibben and Company Ltd. calculation contest held recently. It was revealed following the count last night. Mr. Sehl was the only one to estimate the correct number of pieces of paper in the jar, sending in as his guess, 17,642.

Several others were within one or two numbers of the correct amount. The work of counting the cards was carried out by a staff of twelve under the supervision of W. A. Patterson, one of the judges and required two days to complete.

It was the fifth calculation contest conducted by Diggon's Limited.

Good Progress Shown During Year By Douglas Street Church

Under the chairmanship of Rev. F. W. McKinnon, the annual congregational business meeting of the Douglas Street Baptist Church was held last night.

In his address, Rev. Mr. McKinnon made an appeal for an increased missionary giving which was necessary to meet the missionary budget of the church. He urged closer co-operation in all church activities and mapped out a proposed line of work for the year.

Reports read by various officers showed general progress. The treasurer reported a favorable balance, and the Sunday School statement was regarded as highly satisfactory.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Church clerk, T. E. Reason; treasurer, William Tyson; missionary secretary, Miss N. Reece; deacons, D. Mackenzie, T. E. Reason, William Tyson and Frank Humphreys; deaconesses, Mesdames Ward, Stables, Beal and Arnold; choir leader, Mrs. N. McKague; organist, Mrs. Frank Humphreys; president of the missionary circle, Mrs. F. W. McKinnon; superintendent of the Sunday School, Percy MacKereth.

Officers appointed for the year were David Tyson, William Tyson, Tom Cooper, Harry Tyson, Ralph and Woodward.

THE PULSE of great METAL INDUSTRIES

MINING is the third ranking industry in British Columbia, with an invested capital of $120,000,000. Eighteen thousand British Columbia workmen receive $30,000,000 in wages annually. Last year $70,030,976 was produced from British Columbia mines, of which $12,500,000 was paid out in dividends.

How do these figures concern the prosperity of individual citizens? The mining industry creates payrolls. Workmen's pay-checks represent buying power from which merchants prosper.

Into mining development goes lumber, machinery, tools, provisions, construction of ships, transportation and smelting of ore, shipping of metals. Lumber mills, railways and steamship lines, farms, factories, wholesale houses and retail stores derive prosperity from mining progress. Development of mines creates new wealth distributed as dividends. Dividend cheques buy motor cars, clothing, luxuries, homes.

Fifteen years ago British Columbia's great wealth-producing mines were either unknown or insignificant producers. They were developed to world-wide importance by energy and courage. Great mines of the future will be developed by the same aggressiveness. The Vancouver Stock Exchange is an important stimulus to this aggressive policy.

The Exchange is the pulse of great metal industries. Through members of the Exchange, capital in the United States, Great Britain and Canada has been afforded an opportunity to participate in the development of Western Canada.

The Vancouver Stock Exchange is a Public institution filling an important place in the employment of capital in British Columbia. As a part of the fabric of British Columbia's financial and industrial life, it was a major influence in mining achievements in this province in 1929.
